LOVELY WEATHER FOR GAMES

Plenty of snow and ice is just what the athletes wanted as they prepared for Winter Olympic Games which start in nine days at Squaw Valley, Calif. But they could get too much of a good thing. Rain and high winds Monday turned into a raging blizzard, and more snow is forecast.

FOR THERMAL POWER

BCE Options Big Coal Mine

An option on a multi-million ton coal deposit near Lillooet was picked up from a former Victoria family today by the B.C. Electric Company.

The purchase price was estimated at $2,000,000. Dr. Harry L. Purdy, executive vice-president of BCE, said the purchase of the coal deposit is a safeguard against its customers being forced to pay excessive costs in the future and against possible shortages in the power supply if hydro power production is delayed.

The deposits, known as Hat Creek coal deposits, were bought from Inland Resources Limited of Vancouver which is two-thirds owned by Wilson Mining Corporation.

All shares in Wilson Mining are owned by president Bob Wilson, his brother Keith, managing director and head of Western Marine Enterprises Ltd., Nanaimo, and his sister.

Uranium Study Set

OTTAWA (CP)—The bleak future facing Canadian uranium producers and controversy over Canada's approach to economic electric power will be investigated this session by a select committee of the Commons, it was disclosed today.

Mrs. Barbara D. Foreman of Vancouver.

The rich deposits, 14 miles from Pavilion and 178 miles north of Vancouver by Pacific Great Eastern Railway, put BCE in a position to develop its own 2,600,000 horsepower thermal plant—using coal—in a project which would cost an estimated $200,000,000.

Dr. Purdy said the move would not interfere with bargaining now proceeding with Peace River Power Development Co. which plans a $630,000,000 hydro project on the Peace River.

LARGE RESERVES
Vancouver geologists and mining engineers estimate there are 340,000,000 tons of coal in a square mile area of the Hat Creek deposits 20 miles from BCE transmission lines.

The known reserves are sufficient to keep a 2,600,000-horsepower plant operating for 40 years.

In Vancouver, W. C. Mainwaring, president of Peace River Power Development Co., said he was confident BCE will choose Peace River hydro power in preference to thermal development.

Peace power would allow BCE to conserve capital for other expansion, he said.

SOCREDS HIT WICKS MOVE

(See Page 7)

A second Screded backbencher today expressed disappointment with the announcement of Commercial Transport Minister Wicks Monday that he would re-constitute the Road Users Royal Commission.

Irvine Corbett (SC, Yale) said he felt the minister should reduce licence and overweight fees for truck operators without further ado.

EIGHTH OUT OF 40 TO DIE ON GALLOWS

Reprieve Denied, Youth Hanged

PARRY SOUND, Ont. (CP)—Marvin McKee, 20, went to a "quiet, efficient and quick" execution early today, said sheriff Stephen Elliott, of Bracebridge, Ont.

McKee, convicted of murdering Huntsville taxi driver Bruce Spiers, 22, dropped through the trapdoor of the gallows at 12:07 a.m. and was pronounced dead 11 minutes later by the jail surgeon, Dr. A. J. L. Wright.

Reports said McKee went to his death quietly and confessed to his crime shortly before he died.

When told Monday that the cabinet would not commute his sentence, McKee requested that his eyes be given to the Eye Bank of Canada and that he be buried in the jailyard as a reminder and deterrent to other boys who chose to live carelessly.

CALM REACTION

Jail officials said the requests would be granted. Rev. Gordon McElhose, of the Pentecostal Church, who stayed with the youth during his last hours, said McKee took the news calmly when told a commutation was refused.

The minister said the youth had made the request to be buried in the prison yard "with frankness and sincerity." He said McKee had told him he had no unkind thoughts or feelings against anybody.

Mr. McElhose said he gave the youth communion Monday morning and that McKee had embraced the Christian faith. McKee was the first person under 21 executed in Canada since 1947 and the eighth person hanged since the Progressive Conservative government came to power in June, 1957.

Since then the government has committed to life imprisonment 32 other death sentences.

McKee was the first person under 21 executed in Canada since 1947 and the eighth person hanged since the Progressive Conservative government came to power in June, 1957.

GRAVEL PIT SLAYING

McKee was convicted of the murder Nov. 7 at Bracebridge. The bodies of Spiers and his partner, Francis Grosso, 29, were found in a gravel pit 11 days after the men had disappeared.

McKee was charged jointly with Wayne Sluman, 17, who later pleaded guilty to manslaughter and was sentenced to 15 years in penitentiary.

Sluman testified the youths lured Spiers and Grosso on to a deserted road June 19.

Both taxi operators were shot with a 22-calibre rifle.

Later, the two accused returned to rob the bodies and one of them crushed Spiers' head with a rock.

Hear the BCE's going to try and see what's in a mine.

FROGMAN STILL ALIVE, A PRISONER IN RUSSIA?

LONDON (Reuters)—Omdr. Lionel Crabb, British frogman who mysteriously disappeared while diving near a visiting Russian ship in 1956, was reported by a newspaper today as "alive and a prisoner in Russia."

The four-year mystery of Crabb's disappearance took a new twist with a report in the London Daily Sketch. It says a London publishing firm is claiming that "photostats and transcripts of a top-secret Russian dossier, which have been smuggled to Britain, reveal the full story of his kidnapping and his prisoner's job in Russia."

The 46-year-old navy diver disappeared at Portsmouth, Eng., when Soviet warships that brought Nikita Khrushchev and former premier Nikolai Bulganin to Britain were in harbor there.

A headless body later found floating off the coast was believed at the time to be that of Crabb.

"But no one could identify the body," a spokesman for the publishing firm is quoted as saying.

"Crabb was not drowned. He was captured by the Russians and taken aboard the cruiser he was investigating."

Supply Dumps Found In Mystery Sub Hunt

(Times News Service)

BUENOS AIRES—Food and supply dumps today were reported to have been found near the Gulf of Nuevo, 700 miles south of here, where the Argentine navy hunted a foreign submarine believed to be hiding on the seabed.

The dumps were presumed to be there to supply the intruder's crew, according to local radio stations, which broadcast the unconfirmed reports.

"The hunt has been going on for 10 days, with depth charges, bombs and a close watch by naval ships on the gulf. The 10-mile-wide mouth of the gulf has been heavily mined."

Naval undersecretary Rear Admiral Eladio Vazquez said Monday night that no doubt the submarine is there and the navy is keeping up "intimidating operations" to force it to the surface.

The newspaper La Prensa has said the submarine was believed to have been hit by a bomb.

Newspapers here speculated that the submarine might be nuclear-powered, but no confirmation of this rumor could be obtained.

SIGNAL PICKED UP

There also were reports that sonar search gear on Argentine ships had picked up sounds which might indicate either that the sub's crew is repairing it or that it is sending signals in "underwater code."

A fleet of planes and ships was patrolling the suspect area off the southeastern Argentine coast, including warships of every type.

The Nuevo Gulf is a traditional manoeuvres area for the Argentine navy. A "mystery" submarine was attacked and possibly damaged in the same general vicinity last year.

'COPTERS TO TAKE OFF GROUNDING SHIP CREW

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The wine tanker Angelo Petri ran aground today on a shoal south of the San Francisco channel entrance.

The Coast Guard dispatched three helicopters to remove the 40-man crew.

Explosions Rip Fireworks Plant

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md. (UPI)—A series of explosions today ripped the Havre de Grace Fireworks Co., touching off a multi-alarm fire. It was feared that some of the company's employees may have been trapped in the plant.

State police said they were unable to get near the 15-building complex immediately, and one officer said there was a chain of explosions felt for miles.

Firefighting equipment and ambulances from a number of nearby communities sped to the scene.

One policeman estimated that about 50 persons, both men and women, worked in the plant. But it could not be ascertained immediately how many escaped safely during the recurring explosions.

The factory, which specialized in manufacturing so-called smaller fireworks, is located about a half block beyond the Havre de Grace city line in a heavily inhabited residential section.

Rail Clerks Win Against Teamsters

OTTAWA (CP)—Frank J. Hall's railway clerks have beaten the big teamsters union in their first jurisdictional clash before the Canada Labor Relations Board, it was learned today.

The board has rejected an application in which the teamsters sought certification as bargaining agent for a group of Vancouver employees of the CPR's new "merchandise service."

The application, involving about 300 employees, was brought before the board by Hall's union with the backing of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers. All three are members of the Canadian Labor Congress.

The Brotherhood, which has a minority of the men involved, has indicated it is ceding its bargaining rights in favor of the railway clerks.

Manitoba All the Way To Arctic?

WINNIPEG (CP)—A resolution seeking expansion of Manitoba to the shores of the Arctic will be presented soon in the Manitoba legislature, a northern member said today.

John Ingebrigtsen, Progressive Conservative member for Churchill, said he will introduce a resolution asking the provincial government to approach Ottawa on the question of transferring the Keewatin territory of the Northwest Territories to Manitoba.

Keewatin lies directly north of the province.

Such a transfer would double Manitoba's land area, increase the area of fresh water by one-quarter, and help development of possible vast uranium, fish and fur resources.

The scientist was identified by Tass news agency only as physico-mathematician N. Agrest, writing in The Literary Gazette. He says he believes a gigantic space ship approached the earth from space at a speed close to light, and went into orbit while its occupants studied the earth.

They landed, possibly in the region of the Baalbek Terrace, a platform built of huge stone slabs in the Middle Eastern Anti-Lebanon Mountains which has defied explanation.

Agrest thinks the platform is part of the remains of a launching platform built by the space travellers, or something they put up to commemorate their visit.

Commons Drops Bridge Probe

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Fulton today said there is a decided possibility that criminal charges will be laid as a result of information turned up in 25 RCMP raids on homes of employees and former employees of the National Harbors Board in Montreal.

The raids were conducted during the weekend as part of an investigation into toll collections on Montreal's Jacques Cartier Bridge, operated by the harbors board.

A House of Commons investigation into the situation was called off today because of the police action.

Toll revenue jumped sharply last fall following installation of mechanical collection devices.

Mr. Fulton made his statement in the Commons after Lionel Chevrier (Liberal, Montreal Laurier) had drawn attention to news reports of the raids.

NEW REPORT

Mr. Fulton said that in December Transport Minister Hees asked him to resume earlier investigations into the toll situation but that he had no report until Monday.

However, a few minutes later he said a new report had been handed him to the effect that a great deal of additional information and a number of documents had been obtained during the raids.

There was "a decided possibility" that on examination the information obtained would warrant criminal charges being placed. No decision on that point had been made pending close examination of the material seized. He did not elaborate on the type of information.

The raids involved the homes of both present and past employees of the National Harbors Board who worked on Jacques Cartier Bridge as toll collectors. The bridge is operated by the board on behalf of the Ottawa, Quebec and Montreal governments.

The CNR has said that revenues on Victoria bridge increased approximately 10 per cent following the installation of automatic collections.

It was also learned seven employees of the Jacques Cartier Bridge were hired on the recommendation of members of parliament.

Transport Minister Hees said one of the employees hired, identified only as H. Fournier, was recommended by former Liberal secretary of state Roch Pinard and current associate defence minister Pierre Seguin. Four others were recommended by Liberal MPs and two by Conservatives.

New Violence In Labor Row

VANCOUVER (CP)—Police said today a waterfront labor dispute may have been behind the case of a 33-year-old seaman who was beaten and robbed here Monday night.

CHIEF Nystrom said he was attacked by two men who beat him over the head with a bottle, rifled his pockets and took $60 outside a downtown hotel. Nystrom was treated for head lacerations.

He told police he was a former member of the independent Seafarers International Union and now is with the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway General and Transport Workers (CLC).

$700 A DAY 'COLLECTED' IN-POCKETS?

MONTREAL (CP)—The Star says information from extremely reliable sources indicates that some bridge toll collectors in the Montreal area were able to pocket from $50 to $700 a day before automatic collectors were installed.

The newspaper also says there have been reports that bridge tokens now in use have been sold at points near the bridge for as little as one cent each at the rate of 1,000 for $10. The regular price of the tokens is $4.00 for a package of 50.

DID SPACEMEN DESTROY SODOM AND GOMORRAH?

LONDON (Reuters)—A Soviet scientist believes earth has been visited by space-travellers from other planets, and thinks they may have had a part in the destruction of the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah.

The scientist was identified by Tass news agency only as physico-mathematician N. Agrest, writing in The Literary Gazette. He says he believes a gigantic space ship approached the earth from space at a speed close to light, and went into orbit while its occupants studied the earth.

They landed, possibly in the region of the Baalbek Terrace, a platform built of huge stone slabs in the Middle Eastern Anti-Lebanon Mountains which has defied explanation.

Agrest thinks the platform is part of the remains of a launching platform built by the space travellers, or something they put up to commemorate their visit.

He adds that glass-like substances known as tektites, found in the Libyan Desert and containing radioactive isotopes of aluminum and beryllium, may have been the remains of some missile.

He notes previous evidence that the tektites—for which there is no explanation—were formed not less than 1,000,000 years ago and under conditions of high temperatures and powerful radiation.

He says the description of the destruction of Sodom and Gomorrah given in the Bible could not help attracting the attention of modern scientists.

"In modern language this legend says that people were advised to leave the area of the future explosion, not to linger in the open, not to watch the blast."

"Those of the fugitives who looked back lost their eyesight and perished."

His theory is that the space travellers could have exploded their surplus nuclear fuel before leaving earth, after warning the local population.

PGE TRAIN HITS TRUCK; TWO OF CREW INJURED

WILLIAMS LAKE, B.C. (CP) — An engineer and a steward suffered burns Monday when a Pacific Great Eastern Railway passenger train smashed into a loaded diesel tank truck and trailer at a level crossing near 100-Mile House.

None of the 11 passengers aboard the tourist, semi-propelled diesel train was injured.

Gas from the trailer, which sped into the train's baggage compartment, caught fire.

In serious condition in hospital here is engineer John Ployard, 40, of Lillooet, who suffered severe burns.

IN THE HOUSE

WITH Norman Cribbens

One of the most serious men in the House is our own Herbert Bruch—the member for Esquimalt.

Yet, whenever this tall, willowy figure unwinds itself from behind a desk and the amiable boyish countenance leans towards the microphone, it seems to be a signal for irreverence.

The CCF members have the look of small boys reaching for something to throw. The Liberals (few as they are) wear the expression of well-dined huntsmen waiting for the vaudeville.

It started soon after Mr. Bruch arose at 9.30 Monday night to make his earnest contribution to the throne speech debate.

When the member talked of the government's achievements, and forecast it would go on to still greater triumphs after the next election, a CCF voice inquired:

"Are you coming back after the next election?"

"We are all coming back," jollied Dan Campbell, the member for Corio.

But it was Herbert Bruch himself who answered the question with that grave dignity which bespeaks the true parliamentarian.

"Under our democratic system," he said, "it is not for me to say whether I should return to this House. My constituents will decide."

It is a temptation to ring down the curtain on this splendid note—but some irreverent CCFer would be sure to crawl under it.

As did Cedric Cox, the rebel member for Burnaby.

"CCF members last longer," said Mr. Cox.

"I have no doubt they do," said Mr. Bruch sadly. "It is so much easier to sit and snipe at everything that comes along instead of producing the goods."

The government benches thundered their applause and Mr. Bruch looked somewhat like William Tell must have done when his arrow sliced the apple over his son's head.

The House sat from 2 till 10.15 p.m. and produced an assortment of speakers ranging from lean, grey-haired Kenneth Kiernan, the minister of mines, to James Reid, the quiet-spoken Social Credit member for Salmon Arm.

Mr. Kiernan is an impressive speaker and puts his points across clearly and effectively. His speeches always suggest careful preparation and research.

Yet he has a coy humor and when the Opposition became restive he replied:

"Don't be impatient—I'm just warming up!"

As for Mr. Reid from Salmon Arm, he was in a congratulatory mood. He congratulated the Queen on her visit to B.C. last summer; Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Frank Ross on their splendid years of office; Premier Bennett and his government on liquidating "the direct debt."

Mr. Reid was so enamored of the Queen's visit he suggested a commemorative plaque in the Legislative Buildings—as if we hadn't had enough trouble already with the bust executed by Peggy Walton Packard!

Many members of the House have criticized the throne speech—its length and its prolonged recital of the B.C. government's accomplishments.

Mr. Reid defied all such criticisms.

"It was the most notable speech from the throne in all the great history of British Columbia," he declared.

J. Donald Smith, the Social Credit member for Victoria, led the applause. He is sometimes known as the Minister in charge of Laughter and Cheers.

150 to Sound Mission Call

A peaceful army or more church.

More than 150 church workers will make 7,000 household calls in the territorial area of Christ Church Cathedral this week.

With each call they will deliver a personal invitation to attend the teaching mission.

to be conducted by the Bishop of Ottawa, Rt. Rev. Ernest Reed, at Christ Church Cathedral from Sunday, Feb. 21 to Feb. 28.

No money will be collected. "We are appealing to as many persons as possible, Anglicans or otherwise, to attend this mission," Dean Brian Whitlow of Christ Church Cathedral said today.

"The object of the mission will be to make the Christian faith better understood by Anglicans as well as by interested persons outside the church."

Mission services will be held in the cathedral each evening at 8. There will be four question boxes in the cathedral porch and written questions dropped in these boxes will be answered by the bishop or one of the missionaries.

Dr. Frank Fairley will be in charge of the household campaign and those taking part are asked to attend a campaign meeting in Christ Church auditorium Tuesday at 7.30 p.m.

The church's territorial area takes in the whole of James Bay, Rockland Avenue and adjacent streets. For campaign purposes it will be broken down into nine districts with a team captain in charge of each.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Export of hydro power surplus to foreseeable needs of British Columbia could assure the province of inexpensive power at home for all time, says W. C. Mainwaring, president of the Peace River Development Company.

"We should develop all of our hydro power as quickly as we can and sell the surplus to the United States," he said.

In that way the U.S. would write off the depreciation of Canadian plants "and we could have cheap power as long as we wanted to keep the plants running," he added.

Mr. Mainwaring made the remarks during a six-hour dinner meeting-press conference where he described in detail many facets of the Peace River Power Development Company's proposals for hydro power production on northern B.C.'s Peace River.

In an aside on the export question—one which he has stressed does not have any bearing on whether or not the Peace project goes ahead—he questioned the common sense of a federal government policy which places an export tax on a commodity he says is in surplus supply and which has a ready market "right on our doorstep."

The tax amounts to three-tenths of a mill and is coupled with a federal policy not to permit hydro power export under long-term contract.

Mr. Mainwaring said that if all the power sites known to be economically feasible from the Peace River south were developed by 1970 and the surplus power during the next 15 years sold at five mills, more than $3,000,000,000 in revenue could be obtained from the U.S. by 1985.

By that time there would no longer be a surplus because B.C. would need all its power production.

This estimate, Mr. Mainwaring said, would not include any portion of the Fraser River that is involved in the salmon-fishing industry nor the potential of the Liard River and the Alberta side of the Peace.

Consumers in the Pacific Northwest U.S. were willing to purchase B.C. power if they could obtain it under contract for 10 to 15 years.

Mr. Mainwaring said his company is highly interested in the possibilities of establishing a diffusion plant in Canada to produce enriched uranium and will continue studies with a three-fold purpose.

He said the studies will attempt to: 1. Prove that enriched uranium can be produced competitively in Canada; 2. Find a market in this way for Canada's natural uranium; 3. Find someone who will build such a plant.

He said a statement issued during the weekend by the Canadian-American committee concerned with Columbia River power development must have been aimed at influencing international talks on the subject, scheduled to open in Ottawa Thursday.

I was a member of the GHOST SQUAD

Cod's Mouth Brown, Quiet Harry, Johannesburg Joe, Celluloid Jack, Holy Hal — the names of London's postwar criminal big shots read like material for a detective thriller, but the vicious craftiness of these crooks was only too real. London's war-depleted police force could not cope with the wave of crime so the Ghost Squad, the Scotland Yard Underground, was organized, and instructed to infiltrate London's crime world and clean it up. Ex-Det.-Supt. John Gosling, who was one of the four original members of the Squad, tells about his exciting secret work in a two-part feature in Weekend Magazine, beginning this week.

What about the CANADA MEDAL?

The greatest distinction ever dreamed up by Canada for Canadians is a forgotten piece of metal, stored away on shelves in the Archives. Established in 1943, the Canada Medal is intended for those Canadians "who make a great, abiding and significant contribution to Canada," but it has never been awarded. Governments either avoid embarrassing questions about the medal, or maintain an uneasy silence. Writer Patrick Waddington investigates the puzzling situation in a Weekend feature story in this issue.

Dream flight to SOUTH AMERICA

For two young students—one with a pilot's licence, the other with creditable skill in Spanish—what could be more exciting than a sightseeing tour through South America in a one-engine plane? Ronald McCullough, 27, and Robin Eccles, 24, set out from London's University of Western Ontario, last summer, and made just such a tour. In a Weekend feature this week they describe some of the highlights of their memorable trip—ancient Incan cities, the new capital of Brazil, revolutions in Nicaragua, radio interviews in Quito, Colombia.

Yes, she's one of the famous McGuire sisters, whose close harmony and sparkling performances have put them high on the popularity ratings of both radio and television. Energy From Natural Gas
Tops Hydro Says Kiernan

'Queen's Decision Not Applauded'

LONDON (CP)—Britain plunged into heated controversy today over the Queen's decision to link her husband's name with that of her own for future generations of the Royal Family.

Within a few days of expecting her third child, the 33-year-old monarch decreed that her descendants not in direct line for the throne will be known as Mountbatten-Windsors.

The Buckingham Palace announcement prompted an immediate editorial blast from one of Britain's most widely read newspapers.

"The Queen's decision," says the Tabloid Daily Mirror, "will not be applauded by the British public."

"Is the decision prudent? If it is prudent, is it necessary? If it is necessary, is it well timed?"

Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express also has said recently that any move toward Mountbatten as a royal name was "unthinkable."

Today the Conservative

Daily Mail takes a defending view.

"If this is a sentimental decision it arises from the best kind of sentiment—that of a united and loving family life. It is in this knowledge that the Queen's people will receive her decision and join with it the affectionate hope that all will be well with her when she becomes a mother for the third time."

The Queen gets her wish, says a huge headline in today's Daily Telegraph, another Conservative paper.

But the Labour Daily Herald reports that in "certain court circles" the change is regarded as a victory for Prince Philip and his uncle, Earl Mountbatten.

Bluntly its headline asserts: "Philip wins fight for the royal Mountbattens."

Many newspapers trace the German connections of the Mountbatten—formerly Battenberg—family, and the Daily Mirror notes pointedly that it is only 15 years since the end of the Second World War.

FOUND

CALGARY (CP)—The body of Mr. Justice W. Gordon Egbert, 67, a member of the trial division of the Supreme Court of Alberta for 16 years, was found in the Elbow River Monday.

He had been missing since about midnight Sunday when a cab driver dropped him near his home in south Calgary, a few blocks from where his body was found.

Police said they do not suspect foul play.

Natural gas production in British Columbia last year produced more energy than all the hydro developments of the province in the same period, Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan said Monday.

Speaking in the throne speech debate in the legislature he said: "I might venture to say, half in jest . . . that if this hydro hassle continues with all talk and no action, with politics in lieu of production, our natural gas could effectively take over the job that hydro should normally do."

New wells are coming in in quick succession, he said. "As of last week the province had 519 drilled, 196 gas, 63 oil, the remainder dry holes."

"Wildcat"

"We are still running at one productive well for every two drilled, which is a good record when you consider that much of the work in the Peace area is exploratory or of a purely wildcat nature," said the minister.

"In the Peace this winter we are experiencing the most extensive drilling program in the history of the province. As of Feb. 2 there were 38 rigs reported as being set up or drilling."

Mr. Kiernan pointed out the area of greatest interest now is east of Fort Nelson. He said Clarke Lake, Koich Lake and Pettit River indicate tremendous gas fields in the general area.

"It is by no means beyond the realm of possibility that the gas fields there may in terms of productivity be far beyond anything so far discovered farther south."

"In view of these discoveries, it is entirely possible that a comparatively few strategically placed gas wells in these areas could more than double the proven gas reserves of the province, which presently stand at slightly more than 2.8 trillion cubic feet."

The estimated reserves of 70 trillion cubic feet would supply 100 million cubic feet of gas every day for 20 years, he said.

Mr. Kiernan said exploration is now opening up in the Flathead area of the east Kootenays and in the Anahim area of the Cariboo.

'Ludicrous' Daylight
Time System Attacked

(From Times News Service)

OTTAWA—A British Columbia MP who said his constituency operates on at least four different times urged Monday that federal and provincial government representatives sit down together and "end this ludicrous, self-imposed inconvenience" of Standard and Daylight times.

The suggestion came from H. W. Herridge (CCF-Kootenay-West) who noted that his interior B.C. constituency includes areas operating on Pacific Standard, Mountain Standard, Pacific Daylight and Mountain Daylight Times.

He spoke on a resolution introduced by Eric Winkler (PC-Grey-Bruce) calling on the federal government to initiate a policy of standardizing the dates for starting and ending daylight time in the six time zones in Canada.

Debate on the private motion was adjourned by John Smith (PC-Lincoln) without decision.

Mr. Winkler said standard dates across the country for the daylight time period would end "costly confusion" in many fields such as transport and broadcasting.

Hubert Bodanai (L-Fort William) said last time was of benefit only to "gophers and baseball fans." Approval of a federal bill would be "an invasion of the regional rights of the people."

Loans Urged for Small Businesses

Long-term, low-interest loans to protect small business men from the "jungle law" of the big eating the small were suggested by Chesley W. Carter (L-Burn-Burgeo).

His resolution calling for urgent government consideration of making such loans available for small businesses hard hit by tight money was debated without a vote.

It now goes to the end of the list of 50 private members resolutions with little chance of coming up again this session.

Some government members opposed the resolution because it was not the government's business to interfere in lending. However they agreed that the banks should reconsider their policies.

Howard Graffey (PC-Brome-Missisquoi) said the banks should realize "their stewardship is more than the making of profits." Small business men were going without loans while there was more than enough money available to meet demands of big business.

Herman M. Batten (L-Humber-St. George's) said the Progressive Conservatives had promised small business loans would be available when it was campaigning to win elections but "nothing has been done."

National guard militiamen were ordered to three towns in the northwest corner of the states to prevent looting.

Although there was no major damage in San Francisco, brief power failures occurred.

The Eel River Canyon, 350 miles north of San Francisco, was hardest hit. More than 750 residents left several tiny lumber and resort communities and fled to higher ground.

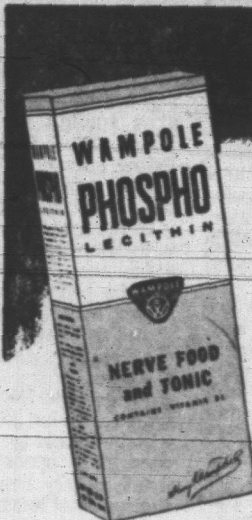

The Red Cross declared an emergency disaster area in one 30-mile sector. Only the rooftops were visible above the torrent that flooded one town.

Traffic on the north side of San Francisco Bay was slowed to 10 miles an hour during the night. Although rivers were near flood stage, there was no imminent threat of levees overflowing.

France and Its Allies

FOR THE TIME BEING PRESIDENT De Gaulle has won his battle. He has established himself, not merely as head of the Republic, but as a man whose word is law, as the Republic itself. Without him there would be none. But it was a battle only. The struggle is not over and the major difficulties remain.

The medley of interests which supported the President during the recent crisis will break apart and resume the rivalries that are normal to them. Only De Gaulle, and the pressure of an emergency, could have held in unity for a few days the diverse elements of Socialists, Radicals, Communists, Gaullists, various conservatives, non-Communist leftists, labor unions, professional groups, civil servants and others who swung behind the President when he was challenged by the Algerian insurrectionists.

But these are not the stuff of which national unity is made; there must be more enduring cohesive forces than hatred of the opposition, hope of reward, desire to maintain the status quo, or the chance of political gain.

It was the latter motive which brought the Communists out of relative obscurity to make news again. Here, for one thing, was an opportunity to link themselves closely with other groups in a common cause and thereby achieve at least temporary acceptability. But looking farther, the Communists are thinking of the day when De Gaulle departs, for a political vacuum, particularly when accompanied by chaos and indecision, spells opportunity for Communism.

Already even those stable French elements who recognize in De Gaulle the only hope for France's present survival—for the Fourth Republic had foundered in governmental stalemate and futility—are wondering if that historical claim: "L'Etat, c'est moi," must be followed by another: "Après moi le déluge."

France's allies are no less concerned than Frenchmen. The days of crisis showed that there was widespread opposition to De Gaulle which needed only an outbreak like that of the men on the Algerian barricades to rouse it. French stability is still a goal rather than a fact, and its fate hangs on one man.

First, there is the question of NATO. Although De Gaulle has shown a disruptive independence as regards American atomic sites and deployment of French forces for NATO service, the fact remains that France is the keystone of European defence. The late State Secretary Dulles once said, "If France goes, Germany is a parachute operation." The line of Western strength would be broken in the centre and probably impossible to hold.

It is therefore a matter of necessity to NATO that France remain strong and stable, non-Communist and solvent. De Gaulle has weathered the recent crisis. Can he weather the next—and the next?

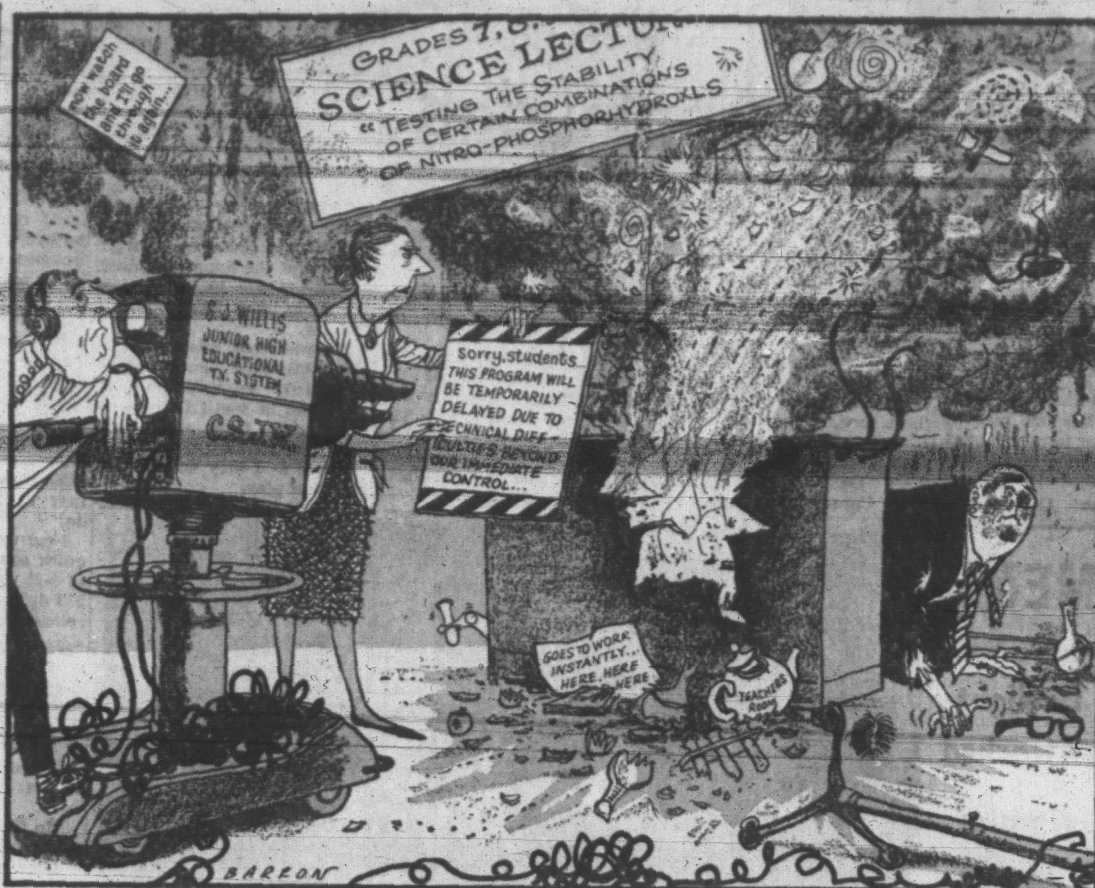

There is another cause of concern to the West. Very soon the democracies' spokesmen must meet at a summit conference with Mr. Khrushchev. Of the Big Three, only Prime Minister Macmillan of Great Britain will be able to go with a solid political foundation under him.

President Eisenhower will speak with the voice of a man who within a few months will be out of office and in retirement. There will be power in the voice, but it cannot sound as convincing to Mr. Khrushchev as it might have last year or the year before.

President De Gaulle will speak with force, but his Russian listeners will be thinking of Algeria, of the surprising opposition that showed itself within France itself, and of the national hazards that are inevitable in one-man control where there is no successor in sight.

It will add nothing to Western strength, either, that President Adenauer of West Germany, although an observer rather than a negotiator, must some day soon quit power in Bonn through the toll of the years.

The Paris-Bonn axis has become a strong one, and its strength has served to strengthen the West as a whole. But whatever its present circumstances, its future cannot be more promising than that of the ends of the axis. Mr. Khrushchev will have noticed recent wobbles at both ends, and will be prepared to take full advantage at the conference table.

LOOSE ENDS

The Mysterious Personage of Mr. Nixon

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

WASHINGTON—It is a reasonable bet, as no Democrat will deny, that Mr. Richard Nixon will be the next President of the United States, though he represents a minority party. And this, or could prove to be later on, one of the most decisive facts in the world. Certainly an American Presidential election is more important now—days than it ever was in the past, for events have given any President greater powers than the writers of the Constitution foresaw. Because it alone has access to the vital information of foreign affairs and to military secrets, the executive more and more over-tops the legislature at a time when the United States' supreme interests are more foreign than domestic.

So long as the nation was mainly concerned with its own internal business the Congress was usually dominant in the checks and balances of the constitutional system. Today the executive is so dominant that President Eisenhower, a Republican, can act almost like a monarch above partisan politics, implementing his policies through a Democrat, Senator Lyndon Johnson, as his prime minister in the Senate.

Hence, if Mr. Nixon is indeed assured of election he is potentially the most important man in the free world. But of course his election is not yet assured. It is only arranged as surely as anything can be arranged in a democracy, subject to the electorate's veto.

To secure the veto on Mr. Nixon, the man, rather than on the policy of the Republican party, is the primary objective of the divided, confused and discouraged Democrats.

IN political arrangement, in the mechanics of the system, the Democratic party has been completely outflanked by Mr. Nixon, perhaps the supreme politician of his time. His success so far, considering his unhappy start, is almost unbelievable.

It is based on three factors—the friendship of Mr. Eisenhower, the manipulation of the party machine and Mr. Nixon's unequalled instinct in judging the winds of public opinion. After meeting Mr. Nixon and watching his performance on a great ceremonial occasion, this reporter can recall no politician of comparable ability in all the outer arts of politics.

Mr. Nixon has mastered the inner arts as well. While the Democratic party is bewildered and riven by the struggles and no one knows which of them will be nominated, Mr. Nixon is the undisputed heir of the Eisenhower dynasty. Since his nomination next July will be a mere formality, he is using the intervening months to perfect his organization down to the last local precinct.

At the same time, with sure touch, he is standing on the popular record of the President but is not stopping there. As he said in his first major campaign speech at Chicago the other day, the Republican party—now thoroughly converted to the Democratic New Deal—will go on to build a better American society just as imaginatively, and more reliably than the original architects of the Roosevelt-Truman regime. Mr. Nixon offers the electors the best of all possible worlds.

Nevertheless, this ablest, or luckiest, of all contemporary politicians has his troubles and his doubts, and they are all within himself. He knows as well as any man that his own personality will probably be the determining issue of the election. He knows that a large sector of the American people admit his ability but suspect his character, however unjustly.

A STRANGER from Canada, moving among the insiders of the Democratic party, is amazed to discover the depth of their antipathy for Mr. Nixon.

These men have no high regard for the present administration; they think history will prove that Mr. Eisenhower was an unsuccessful President yet they admire him as a fine human being. But agreeing that Mr. Nixon would be a much abler President, they distrust him as a human being—almost to the point of hysteria. Their main hope in the autumn election is that a majority of the voters will distrust him also for the same intangible, instinctive, human reasons.

As another dispatch will indicate, however, there is much more to the election than the mysterious personage of Mr. Nixon, though no one has dared so far to articulate it.

What About That Mail Contract?

WHEN THE BLACK BALL Transport Inc. Mr. Coho inaugurated its Victoria-Port Angeles service at the end of last year, business and other interests here expressed their appreciation and a desire to see the ship operate at a profit.

One means of helping to pay for construction of the vessel and to justify the run on economic grounds, it was suggested, lay in the award of a mail contract.

It is understood such a contract is now being considered. Victorians will hope that the consideration is favorable.

At one time mail was carried on the Victoria-Port Angeles run. The contract was ended about 10 years ago on the grounds that costs were too high for the volume of mail.

That condition could be very different today. Our increased population and the flow of business and personal letters between the Island and the United States mainland suggests revival of the service.

A decisive factor in any such move would be scheduling. That covers both transfer of mail bags from ship to land carrier and handling for distribution by postal authorities. On the face of it, schedules should not be too difficult to fix. And if they can be so arranged that our valuable water link with the U.S. mainland can be helped to run profitably, efforts to that end would be worthwhile.

Doors Open to Indians

NATIVE INDIANS OF BRITISH Columbia, represented by delegates from the Interior and the Coast, have agreed at a Chilliwack conference that their people need more educational facilities and more teachers.

This is encouraging recognition on the part of the native people of the desirability of giving their children better schooling. There is, however, an implication in the report that educational opportunities available to other British Columbians are denied to Indians.

In the strictly legal sense, this is not the case. No barriers are erected in the official public school system against natives. They are welcomed into the classroom on terms equal to those of other citizens, as far as regulations are concerned. Indeed, in many localities they have a favored position in as much as costs of attendance at public schools are met by the Federal Government while the parents of other residents have to pay the conventional taxes for school purposes.

There are certain limitations imposed on the Indians, but not necessarily by the school act. In some cases bands live at points too remote to enjoy regular attendance at well-established schools. And in many cases, migratory labor followed by Indians prevents uninterrupted instruction.

These difficulties are understood by the educational authorities. It might be wise, however, if the representatives who attended the Chilliwack gathering were reminded of the educational opportunities open to natives—and it would be wiser still if they could encourage their people to take advantage of those opportunities to the limit.

Conformity in Dissent

WARM PRAISE HAS BEEN bestowed on a recent British television program which featured 25 "American dissenters" who said what they thought was wrong with their country.

The consensus seemed to be that the United States hasn't enough dissenters, that the population, by and large, conforms too easily to accepted thought and action.

The same criticism might be voiced for almost any country where people have learned to live together—and it would probably be correct.

The heretics, the nonconformists, have their virtues. They often furnish the yeast which keeps society working. But they have their disadvantages, also. Too many of them are too ready to dissent according to their own line of thought, but to disagree with all the other "screwballs" whose dissents don't conform to theirs.

No Title Given

The other night a TV film was presented by The American Psychiatric Association. This was listed in your television section by one word: "Movie."

Is this sufficient description of a great film? Orson Welles was director and narrator and the result was expert and incomparable. The subject—mental illness, insanity, madness—is one of much significance to thousands of sick people, their relatives and friends, on this island. I hope you can give us some assurance that rare and outstanding events, such as this one, will in future be brought to our attention.

Symphony Encouragement

With the Victoria Symphony Orchestra having three more concerts before the 1959-60 concert season will be at an end, it may not be out of place to comment on the noticeable increase of audiences to all performances so far this season. This makes a person think the Victoria Symphony Society has become an established community institution.

Several reasons might be applied for the success of the symphony apart from the esteem for its conductor, Hans Gruber and the talented members of the orchestra. Within recent years the rapid development of the City of Victoria and the surrounding municipalities has brought in musical talent from outside. Furthermore, young talent is growing up in the community. Then again, encouragement has been given to students in the various schools in the organizing of a school junior symphony orchestra which has been given support by the senior symphony orchestra in having them perform at two of their concerts this season when they were greeted with much applause.

Would it not be worthy of consideration on the part of the directors of the Victoria Symphony Society to invite outstanding local artists to be guest soloists at one or more of the symphony concerts before they leave their home community for wider fields of endeavor in the musical world?

Greek Seaman's Fund

On Feb. 2 you published the story of John N. Tourantinos by Tony Dickason.

This castaway from Greece landed on our island a very sick, badly injured man—alone.

The unfortunate circumstances surrounding him left an indelible impression on me, so I planned to help him help himself and his family in faraway Greece.

This morning I made a phone call to a person whom I thought might give a couple of dollars to the little fund I have started, and he said: "Why should I help a Greek seaman. No, he's not my responsibility. No."

Sadly I hung up. I had failed to get my message across—that in time of trouble no part of the human race can afford to live at the expense of the other, no matter what part of the world we live in.

How kind and generous are the people of Victoria, many of whom can ill afford to give, yet when the call is made for someone in distress they rush forward, close the ranks and give till it hurts.

My grateful thanks for your co-operation.

Scripture and Death Penalty

Concerning capital punishment, a subject of international controversy, which our Federal Parliament is scheduled to consider, the Supreme Chief Justice has decreed—

The 6th Commandment forbids murder and makes capital punishment mandatory—not as an act of revenge, but as a measure to satisfy justice and safeguard society.

Exodus 21:12—"He that smiteth a man so that he dies shall surely be put to death."

Numbers 35:30-34—"Whoso killeth any person, the murderer shall be put to death by the mouth of witnesses. . . . Moreover, ye shall take no satisfaction for the life of a murderer, which is guilty of death, but he shall surely be put to death."

Deut. 19:11-21, Vs. 21—"Thine eye shall not pity, but life shall go for life." When execution is carried out, the occasion is seldom without a spate of maudlin sentimentality towards the criminal, but none towards the victim or his (her) dependents.

"Take diligent heed to do the commandment and the law."—Josh 22:5. Surely those well-learned in the law will not quarrel with Blackstone, who says—

"This law of Nature being consonant with mankind and dictated by God Himself, is, of course, superior to any other. . . . The doctrines thus delivered are called the revealed or divine law and are to be found only in the holy Scriptures. . . . no human laws are of any validity contrary to these."

Soviet Trade

By MAURICE WESTERN

THE Soviet trade challenge has been a recurrent theme in recent debates in the House of Commons. Mr. Pearson made brief reference to it in his opening speech. Two West Coast members, Mr. Payne (Conservative-Capilano) and Mr. Winch (CCF-Vancouver East) dwell gloomily on the probable impact of Soviet competition on our overseas markets for lumber.

A Toronto Conservative warned of the dire consequences of any truck or trade with Russia. And Mr. Argue, in a television broadcast, expressed doubt that Canada and the United States would be able to compete with the Soviet Union in the days ahead.

It is apparently the general view that the threat arises from the freedom of the Soviet Government to export at will without regard to normal commercial considerations or to any sort of international discipline. It is also widely agreed that Canada, because of the nature of her exports, is peculiarly vulnerable to such competition.

But nothing has yet been said in the House about the possibility that Russia might now be induced, in the interest of better relations, to accept restraints comparable to those which other nations impose upon themselves under the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

Not Academic

This is not today the academic question it certainly was in former years when the Soviet Union, self-isolated behind the iron curtain, looked with suspicion and blistering hostility upon the Geneva agreements.

Among officials at least it is seriously discussed and there may have been an echo of these discussions in the hope, expressed late last year by the Prime Minister, that summit conversations would achieve some progress towards sensible and orderly relations between East and West.

An example of disorderly relations was cited by Mr. Payne in the House of Commons. Russia sells lumber to the United Kingdom on the basis of contracts containing a "fall clause". This means that the Soviet authorities undertake to deliver to the U.K. market at a price guaranteed to be below that of any other supplier at any given period.

As Mr. Payne commented: "It is rather difficult for Canadian exporters to compete when an undercutting of their bottom price is guaranteed by contractual commitment on the part of the USSR."

Difficult Business

As Mr. Muldren said in Ottawa recently the U.K. did on one occasion invoke anti-dumping provisions in respect to goods from Russia. But this is a difficult business for the reason that Soviet authorities direct the commerce and industry of the Communist state without need, in any particular case, of the profit and loss accounting characteristic of our system.

It should not be forgotten, however, that two Communist states, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia, are already in GATT. Moreover, negotiations to admit Poland are now in progress.

This development in the borderlands may well have an important effect on Soviet policy. It has meant already, according to one Canadian official, that the whole question of dealings with state traders has become one of the three or four big issues now confronting the Geneva organization.

Soviet View

According to Mr. Aroutinian, the Russian Ambassador, the Soviet view is that such matters should be discussed by a world economic conference convened by the United Nations Economic and Social Council. This may be taken as the last official position of the Soviet Government.

Whether after recent events the Russians are prepared to go beyond it could be determined only by diplomatic inquiry. In the past they have preferred bilateral pacts (such as the Canadian-Soviet treaty which is said by Mr. Churchill to be near conclusion), presumably because such agreements preserve their freedom of action.

But they seem bent, for whatever reasons, on a large expansion of their foreign trade. Some Canadian officials believe that the situation has changed to such a degree that Soviet participation in GATT can no longer be "automatically ruled out."

UP TO THE STUDENT

At school, responsibility for progress was shared about equally between teacher and pupil. In the university, lecturers and tutors will advise, and warn, and encourage, and they teach too, with the same understanding, enthusiasm and conscientiousness as teachers elsewhere. But they'll make no attempt to teach all that needs to be known; and they certainly won't push students through examinations. A lot of those who fail examinations and have to leave the university would have succeeded if they had been kept on a tighter rein. But because universities are places for young men and women who are, or can become, capable of learning for themselves, the rein has to be loose, not tight.

HOW YOU TAKE IT

Happily, great tragedies don't come to all of us, but disappointments, irritations, annoyances, and so on, do. Something happens, circumstances over which you have no control alter all your plans; you have to adjust yourself. You are appalled but you can't do anything about it. You can either spend the rest of your days grieving over your spoilt plans or you can adjust yourself, you kick against the pricks, or you accept.

Sun Life Reaped Benefit

By HAL MALONE

Rising interest rates can affect the country in two ways. Generally considered to work a hardship on people who need money for housebuilding or plant expansion, rising interest rates last year proved to be a blessing for the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada.

In the annual report Sun Life president George W. Bourke noted that rising interest rates in 1959 made it possible for the company to earn 4.40 per cent on its assets as against 4.28 per cent net in 1958.

Overall, 1959 was a good year for Sun Life. Life insurance sales amounted to $1.041 million, up 5.2 per cent over 1958.

Payments to policyholders and beneficiaries totalled $179 million — $705,000 for each working day — an increase of $20 million over 1958 payments.

The Shipping State in Our City will be the subject of an address by A. E. Cunningham, wiring inspector for Victoria, to the Wednesday meeting of the Victoria Real Estate Board. The meeting will be held at noon, in the Empress Hotel ballroom.

TODAY'S GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP) — Lack of export business in Canadian grains was a negative feature of dull trading today on the Winnipeg grain exchange.

Only hint of export interest was a report of inquiries from Europe on flax, although no actual business was reported.

Overnight export loadings of Canadian wheat included: United Kingdom 715,000 bushels; Poland 800,000; Japan 440,000; United States 60,000; and West Germany 40,000.

Lakehead prices for Class Two, IWA and domestic wheat all were higher than Monday.

CHICAGO (AP) — Grain futures prices today ranged both ways on the board of trade, but the swings were limited and showed no significant trends.

In nearly afternoon dealings there was a bit more activity on a little better demand but trade generally was light and lacking any inferences.

POPPA APPROVES

Biscuit's Boy Going Steady

By HAL MALONE

Back in 1935-36, a small, chunky, dapper gentleman working in Palm Springs would spring $2 from his wallet and invest it on a thoroughbred.

Like most investors Ernest Ammann had his favorites, ability with a skillet and while personal and mutual. One was the immortal Seabiscuit. Since he has eased off just a little in a few hundred thousand other the last few years.

Investors shared his fondness for Seabiscuit. Ernie Ammann only child, Trudy, was 11, never came home with a for- Ernie Ammann suddenly found tune even when Seabiscuit himself interested in horses again—this time in a personal way.

The years passed and Ernie made his way to Victoria. A Trudy was the cause of this Swiss by birth and a chef by generation. She had become a select restaurant—Chez Ernie the late Dr. Norman James' est at 4488 West Saanich Road.

He retained his interest in horses but only in a passive way. With his genial, hard-working wife, he rolled up his sleeves and attempted to make his private enterprise a profitable proposition. A steadily growing clientele attests to his

Her enthusiasm for the sport was so infectious Poppa Ammann found himself making more frequent trips to James' riding grounds.

Bart's Rock Object of Affection

In Dr. James' barn was a well-built bay gelding which Trudy fancied. His name was Bart's Rock, a familiar face to racing patrons up and down the Pacific Coast. In the twilight of his career, Bart's Rock had come into Dr. James' hands after a mishap by an inexperienced handler, and the good doctor nursed him back to soundness.

Dr. James was impressed with Bart's easy disposition and apparent intelligence. Trudy wanted a horse so Mr. Ammann, "I bought him when the doctor's estate was being settled."

"How much? Oh, let's say I got him for a picnic price." Ernie Ammann can say that now. But at that time, Bart's Rock was just another horse.

Some time later he learned and nearly fainted in the process—that Bart's Rock is by Seabiscuit, his idol, out of a mare called Sag Rock.

He produced a framed certificate. Neatly embossed, it proves that Bart's Rock, foaled April 25, 1947, was duly registered by The Jockey Club. The certificate contains the signature "Charles S. Howard, owner and breeder."

Sons Scarce in Seabiscuit Family

Mr. Ammann's pride of ownership was considerably inflated last year when he stopped at a riding equipment store in Bakersfield, Calif.

"When I told them I had a son of Seabiscuit, they sort of stood back in awe," he recalls. "Mister, you're lucky," said the clerk. "Seabiscuit didn't have many sons. Man, that's something!"

Bart's Rock means more to Ernie Ammann than just a link with the past. Through Bart and the other horses Dr. James owned, daughter Trudy has been provided an outlet for her adolescent energies.

"Dr. James didn't only teach Trudy how to ride. He taught her how to care for horses. He taught her understanding and patience."

"The result is that she's not just a rider. She's a horse-woman."

In April Trudy, her mother and dad will close shop for a few weeks and head for Seattle.

"There's a large riding stable there—one of the best in North America but I can't remember the name offhand—and Trudy will be able to pick up a little polish."

Later, next winter perhaps, the Ammanns will head even further south to Santa Anita. Naturally, Ernie Ammann hopes he'll have success inside the track. Outside there's no problem. At the entrance to Santa Anita stands a model of Seabiscuit, the horse that made the place famous.

"I'm going to have Trudy mount Seabiscuit and then I'm going to take her picture. It will sort of round out the story."

CARE FOR A CARROT?

Pair of 14-year-olds having fun are Trudy Ammann and Victoria-owned thoroughbred Bart's Rock. Favorite trick of Bart's Rock is to extricate carrot, apple or some other "goodie" from Trudy's pocket. Bart's Rock, longtime favorite of west coast racing fans, is son of mighty Seabiscuit. He was bought two years ago by Trudy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Ammann, 4488 West Saanich Road. (Times Photo by Halkett.)

Prize Pony Promises Sellout for Cougars

It may not be the largest, but the crowd expected for Wednesday's Western Hockey League game at Memorial Arena should certainly be one of the noisiest.

They're calling for about 5,000 fans to take in Cougars' game with Spokane Comets and the majority, it seems, will be children.

Victoria manager-coach Hal Laycoe said this morning the affair "will be a sellout."

"PONY NIGHT" Sharing co-star billing with the Cougars will be a pony.

That's the door prize being offered which seems to have done an excellent job of attracting the younger set.

Spokane is at present one of the hottest teams in the league with four straight wins behind them.

The Comets will be looking to make it a fifth when they step on the ice at 8:30 p.m.

In the individual scoring race, meanwhile, Seattle's Guyle Fielder continued his slump as he collected only one point in the week but still maintained a comfortable lead in the standings.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The dean of Japan's amateur wrestlers says Americans fall short of being the best wrestlers in the world because of girls, easy living, girls, lack of exercise and girls.

"The Americans could easily be the best," said Ichiro Hatta, here with a 16-man team of collegiate all-stars for a six-week tour. "They have the best facilities, the best food and excellent coaches."

"But they wrestle too much with the girls—too many girl friends—and they get married too early."

U.S. wrestlers also seem to be too easy going and ride in cars too much, added Hatta, chairman of Japan's Amateur Wrestling Association.

KAMLOOPS (CP)—Kitchener-Waterloo-Dutchmen, tuning up for their role as Canada's hockey representatives at the Olympic Games, demonstrated a swooping attack and tough defensive network Monday as they battled to 7-6 win over Kamloops Chiefs.

Using speed and smooth passing to deadly effect, the Dutchies hammered for four goals in the middle period, then held off a last-ditch drive by the surprisingly strong Chiefs to win their fifth straight game in a western exhibition tour.

Kamloops are in second place in the Okanagan Senior League. Kitchener meets the first-place Vernon Canadians tonight, then travels to Vancouver Wednesday night for a game against the tough Trail Smoke Eaters of the Western Interprovincial League.

Trail, the only western team to defeat the Moscow Selects, edged the Russian team 7-6 in a recent game. Wednesday's game will be the last for the Dutchies before they leave for Moscow.

Navy Takes Brawl-Filled Contest to Reach Finals

By ERNIE FEDORUK

Not much made sense. Not much, that is, except a Victoria minor hockey manager's request that his players retire to the dressing room.

An affair at Memorial Arena Monday night was officially labelled as a Commercial Hockey League playoff. But hot-headed clowns on the ice seemed intent on turning it into a three-ring circus.

They probably would have accomplished that, too, if they had a hand and some peanuts. Victoria's Navy team moved into the Commercial League final by defeating Vics, 11-1, in their sudden-death semi-final. Pattersons earned the other final berth in more respectable fashion, defeating Army, 5-3.

Leafs Start Nibbling For Wings' Rearguard

TORONTO (CP)—Red Kelly has been asked if he would be willing to join Toronto Maple Leafs should a hockey trade deal be worked out with Detroit Red Wings.

The all-star National Hockey League defenceman, who "returned" Friday after Detroit announced it was trading him to New York Rangers, has promised King Clancy, Leaf assistant general manager, that he will think over the Toronto offer.

Clancy called Kelly at Detroit Monday after first checking the situation with Jack Adams, general manager of Red Wings.

It is reported Leafs are ready to swap defenceman Marc Reaume, a 26-year-old, for Kelly, who is 32.

Unlimited Blocking to 'Open' Canadian Game

TORONTO (CP) — Canada's football bosses say they're "going to open up" the game.

That's the comment of the Canadian Football League's rules committee after they announced unlimited blocking will now be permitted by linemen and two "privileged" halfbacks on running plays and screen passes.

Blocking over the entire length of the field also will be allowed on intercepted passes by all players.

In all, nine rules changes were announced at the week end.

Harry McBrien of Toronto, secretary of the Canadian

Rugby Union, said Monday that all nine changes will apply to minor football in Canada, including junior and intermediate ranks.

The changes came into force this season following years of bitter opposition by the rule makers of this feature of the American game.

The east and west came close to agreeing on the question in 1958, but the committee shied away from a change when it couldn't agree whether the increased blocking should apply to linemen and the two flanking backfielders.

This time, however, the change was decided upon in answer to pleas from most clubs to strengthen the attack and open the way for more high-scoring games. The rules committee members were also influenced by the difficulties faced by the game officials, players and coaches with the old blocking rule on running plays and screen passes.

The introduction of blocking on pass interceptions is a change which the rule makers feel will also add tremendously to the spectator interest. It will provide greater scoring opportunities and in addition will eliminate a feature which was considered under the old rule no blocking was permitted for the player intercepting leaving his teammates with nothing to do to aid him and in some cases even being forced to get out of his way.

Another change made to aid the offence was eliminating the number of times a forward handoff could be made. Previously only one such handoff could be made and that only by the player taking the snap, but now any number is allowed and by all halfbacks. This will aid teams in certain types of reverse plays.

By points, a change was made to give the kicker greater protection. It now will be illegal to touch him while he is in the act of kicking. If contact is made, no matter how slight, it will bring a 15-yard roughing the kicker penalty. Previously the penalty was handed out only if the contact was such as to knock the punter to the ground.

Other changes were made in these rules:

1. Kickoff going into touch. The team receiving will have the option of taking possession at the point, 20 yards in from the sidelines, where the ball went out of bounds, or having the kick repeated 10 yards back from where it was originally made. Previously the kickoff always had to be made over again with the 10-yard penalty.

2. Simultaneous catch of a pass by players of the same club. It now will be considered a legal catch. Previously it was ruled illegal and went as an incomplete pass.

3. Fumble out of bounds.

The 10-yard penalty for this has been eliminated.

4. Illegal grasping of face guards on players' helmets. This will be specifically outlined in the revised rule book and will call for a 15-yard penalty. Previously it was enforced under the illegal-use-of-hands rule, which brought only a 10-yard penalty.

5. Cleats. Metal and metal-tipped cleats are banned and the bottom surface of cleats must be at least 3/16 of an inch in any dimension no matter what shape.

The extension of the blocking rule on running plays and screen passes in effect only applies to nine men—the seven linemen and the two "privileged" backfielders. However, in theory it is conceivable that the unlimited blocking could apply to 11 men, with the four backfielders moving up to the line of scrimmage and becoming, in effect, linemen.

The old rule of permitting blocking up to the third five-yard strip beyond the line of scrimmage had many defects. The game officials had to watch for it constantly making their job more difficult. The players didn't like it since the linemen and two flanking halves had to be careful they didn't go over the limit.

ON THE CURLING SCENE

Fog-Bound Fort Rink Left Out in the Cold

(From CP Reports)

Eddie Bird and his Fort Smith rink, schoolboy curling champions of the Northwest Territories, won't compete in the Canadian finals next week at Noranda, Que.

When fog stopped the Bird rink from competing with Alberta teams during the week end in the regional playoffs, supporters of the rink wired officials of the Canadian bonspiel asking if Fort Smith could draw a bye into the championships.

Ted Brookes of Calgary, chairman of the schoolboy meet, wired the disappointed rink that it is not eligible for the Noranda bonspiel.

Fort Smith supporters previously asked the Dominion body to accept the Territories as a province, thus allowing the rink to proceed to the Canadian finals. Heavy fog in the Edmonton area cut off the Mackenzie River post for most of last week and Fort Smith was disqualified for failing to appear in the Alberta finals.

The B.C. Curling Association, meeting in Kelowna, has ruled that high school students will not be allowed to enter senior bonspiels in the province. The motion, presented by Gar Taylor of Victoria, president of the B.C. High School Curling Association, was unanimously approved.

The high school body ruled last month at Kamloops that students entered in school bonspiels could not enter senior events. The ruling has no bearing on teen-agers not attending schools.

Three more rinks have gained entry into the Canadian schoolboy championships. Tommy Kroeger's Stettler rink picked up Alberta's banner at the weekend and 19-year-old Ken Davis of Dryden will steer the northern Ontario entry.

Dale Hoffman's Bedford Road Collegiate rink from Saskatchewan won Saskatchewan crown Monday by beating Bill Paterson of Regina's Scott Collegiate.

The touring Canadian curling team lost the Strathcona Cup to Scotland after suffering its fifth defeat Saturday in the series of seven test matches.

The series was decided on aggregate shots and Scotland won by a 167-shot margin.

Edmonton's Matt Baldwin, three-time Canadian champion, survived a shake-up and defeated Pete Husar twice, 9-8 and 8-4, to win the northern Alberta men's curling title.

Baldwin now advances to a round-robin series with representatives from south Alberta, the Peace River region and the Northwest Territories.

Lois Webb's Penitence rink came up with a perfect eight-end to win its D event game in the Penitence ladies' bonspiel at the weekend.

The big winners, however, were members of a Kelowna rink skipped by Bertie McLaugherty. They posted a 10-0 won-loss record to win the two primary and aggregate awards. Barbara Underwood, Leslie Crockett and Gladys Watson are other members of the rink.

In Toronto, Bayne Secord skipped his Toronto rink into the Ontario curling championships by defeating Alfie Phillips, also of Toronto, in a marathon playoff series.

The best-of-three set took 14 hours, 24 minutes to complete. Secord, 24, is formerly from Saskatoon and a two-time Canadian schoolboy curling champion. He has three Regina-area curlers on his rink: Cary Ford, 22; lead; Don Campbell, 37, second; and Vern Loefer, 35, skip.

Defending Canadian champion Ernie Richardson won his first two games as play for the South Saskatchewan men's title got under way at Swift Current Monday.

A miss by Milestone's Jack Keyes enabled Richardson to win his second match, 5-4, the closest of the day.

In the North Saskatchewan, wan playdowns at Prince Albert, Garnet Hammon of Neherhill, Glen Richardson of Saskatoon and Ken Hill of Nipawin go away with two wins in two starts.

PICTURE THOSE HEAVIES TOSSING DRAW WEIGHT

ELLIOT LAKE, Ont. (CP) — A curling match billed in this northern Ontario uranium centre as the "Overweight Curling Championship of the World" ended in a 6-6 tie Saturday.

The two teams will play a rematch within two weeks.

The rinks were known as The Harry Price Fat Men and the Ton of Curlers. Jack Gauthier, who curled in the Canadian championships in 1938, weighed 310 pounds, heaviest among the Ton of Curlers whose total weight was 1,170 pounds. E. Tiny Menard of Massey, 290 pounds, was the heaviest in the Price rink with a total of 1,080 pounds. The game was staged to raise funds for St. Joseph's General Hospital.

Pressure on Tide To Halt Reps' Bid

It's entirely up to Victoria's Crimson Tide.

The Victoria Rugby Union representatives are all that stand between the Vancouver Reps and their straight McKeechle Cup triumph.

Vancouver took a stranglehold on the coveted rugby trophy when they defeated University of B.C. Thunderbirds 6-3 at the weekend.

A decision over the Tide, when the teams meet at Macdonald Park Saturday, can cinch the series for the Reps.

A 25-yard field goal by Ted Hunt and Barry Stubbs' 20-yard penalty kick gave Reps all their points.

A Victoria product, Stu Smith, counted UBC's points on a 35-yard penalty goal.

Island Color-Bearers Away to Flying Start

KELOWNA — Upsets were few and far between and Vancouver Island's representatives got away to a flying start on the opening day at the 65th annual B.C. bonspiel.

Favorites and zone champions generally rolled to comfortable victories.

From an Island standpoint, however, the day was quite a success. Five Island rinks survived the first round and two of them, skipped by Victoria's Tony Gutoski and Nanaimo's Gene Koster, also managed to serve up victories as play got under way in the secondary primary late in the evening.

Gutoski made it two straight with a late-draw, 9-6 triumph over Murray Conklin of Kelowna, while Koster chalked up an 11-4 nod over Gregory of Chilliwack.

Harry Stizaker of Port Alberni, Victoria's Gar Taylor and Glen Harper of Duncan were other Island rinks winning on the first day.

Gutoski, one of several former champions entered, started the Island contingent off on the right foot with a surprisingly easy 9-3 conquest of tough Frenchy D'Amour of Trail on a morning draw.

D'Amour is the only B.C. skip ever to win the Canadian title.

Stizaker defeated Pope of Kelowna 8-6 and Koster clipped Hermanson of Vernon by the same score

LOGGING ROADS HAD WRONG EFFECT

Bamfield More 'Bushed' Than Ever by Tree Farms

Bamfield, on the west coast of Vancouver Island about 30 airline miles from Victoria, has everything to offer the permanent resident except a road connection with the outside world. In these articles the Times presents a view of both the community and its problems.

By DON INGHAM
Times Island Editor

Construction of roads by logging companies under the tree farm licence plan, which was expected to give isolated communities access to the "outside," has worked a hardship on Bamfield.

The little west coast town is within six miles of a good road to Port Alberni, but the only link is a trail usable only by two tiny home-made cars. Bamfield residents feel the lack of a proper road link is harming the community.

Here is a summary of the situation as reported by troller Geoff Phillips, owner of one of the town's two cars.

More Isolated

The construction of logging roads from Port Alberni on both sides of Barkley Sound benefited Totino and Uclueler on the north and Sarita River on the south, but made Bamfield more isolated than ever.

The Barkley Sound Transportation Co., a shipping line with headquarters in Port Alberni, had built up its facilities to service the fishing communities and growing demands of large logging companies. However, with the opening of the roads, most freight moved overland, and last September the company told residents it could no longer make the regular Bamfield mail boat run without financial aid.

May Give Up

Through the Bamfield Chamber of Commerce, a government subsidy was won for a once-weekly trip, but now it appears the company might have to give up its Barkley Sound operations entirely.

"This puts us in a serious position," Mr. Phillips wrote

Indian Land Considered For Industry

DUNCAN — The Duncan-Cowichan Chamber of Commerce proposed to city council Monday that a section of Cowichan Indian Reserve land, south of Trunk Road and adjoining the Trans-Canada Highway, be leased from the Cowichan band and planned as a subdivision to attract light industry.

"We are asking that the city take the leadership," R. B. Evans, chamber president, said.

Ken McAdam, chamber spokesman, said the department of trade and development in Victoria had requested information in the past as to where light industry could locate in Duncan.

DEEP-SEA SHIPS IN PORT

(Morning Positions)
Victoria — Thorpe Grange, Dimar Coel.

Cowichan Bay — Andros Pillim.

Chemainus — Rog.

Crofton — Nordien.

Texada — Nichizui Maru.

Nanosee — Ryuzan Maru.

Tahsis — Polyxene.

Alberni — Audrey, Haldor.

Virik, Incheastle, Annitsa A.

OCEAN MAILS

(Closing dates at Vancouver)

Feb. 11 — Alaska Mail, Japan and Philippines.

Feb. 12 — Woorato, Philippines and Malaya.

Feb. 14 — American Mail, Hong Kong.

New CD Course

CHEMAINUS — A 12-lesson civil defence home nursing class with instruction by Mrs. David Murray, RN, Chemainus, will register Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the council room of Chemainus Municipal Hall.

Training begins Feb. 17.

Earl English, Chemainus, civil defence officer, has asked that a minimum of three members from various women's organizations to register.

EGG PRICES

Produce Wholesale

Grade A Large 25

Grade A Medium 24

Grade A Small 23

(Canton price 20 more)

IMPORTS CUT EGG PRICES

Eggs have dropped and prices have been broken.

Both produce and whole sale prices tumbled four cents Monday.

This makes the retail price for Grade A eggs from 42 to 44 cents a dozen, believed to be the lowest in Victoria in the past 10 years.

Reduction was brought about by heavy imports from America.

Well-Known Mountie Promoted

Senior NCO of RCMP "E" Division's criminal investigation bureau nearly four years, Staff Sergeant F. L. Jeeves, 51, has been promoted to the rank of sub-inspector.

The new rank was announced Monday by "E" Division officer commanding, Assistant Commissioner J. R. Lemieux.

Sub-Ins. Jeeves, who joined the old Provincial Police in 1932, has served exclusively in B.C. since the old force integrated with the RCMP in 1956.

He has served in charge of detachments in Cranbrook, Powell River, Duncan and Nanaimo and before his appointment to senior NCO of CIB at headquarters in March, 1956, was Vancouver Island sub-division NCO with headquarters here.

Sub-Ins. Jeeves lives with his wife and two sons at 3038 Cedar Hill. Two other sons are married and living in Nanaimo and Victoria.

For $50,000

"The connecting link on ward to Bamfield over a route we suggest presents no engineering problems that we can see and would not be expensive. One reliable source quotes $50,000."

"Apart from these reasons," Mr. Phillips wrote, "we feel we are entitled to access to the outside world to reduce our isolation and encourage more people to live here, and to make life more pleasant generally."

VANCOUVER ISLAND ROUNDUP

Dates Set for B.C. Regattas

NANAIMO — Hopes of better weather conditions have caused the Nanaimo outboard Club and the Canadian Legion to change the date of their annual regatta.

It will be on July 1 instead of Labor Day.

The regatta has been rained out for the past two years.

Revision of the date was made at the annual meeting of zone 10 of the B.C. Power Boat Association.

Tentative dates for inboard and outboard regattas in various parts of the province were fixed. These are subject to approval by the American Power Boat Association headquarters in Milwaukee.

Tentative dates are: Victoria, May 22, both inboard and outboard.

Vancouver Outboard Racing Club ice-breaker regatta April 17, Inboard and Outboard Vancouver Power Squadron, May 8.

Vancouver Power Squadron, June 12, gold cup races at Hatzie Lake.

Cowichan Lake, June 19, inboard and outboard.

Sproat Lake regatta, July 17.

Bridge Lake regatta, July 31.

Salmon Arm regatta, August 1, outboard only.

CROFTON — Molly Bobak, North Vancouver, a nationally known Canadian artist and painter, will instruct the Crofton Art Group in Crofton on Feb. 17, 18 and 19.

DUNCAN — Thomas Blewett, 326 Douglas Street, Victoria, was fined $10 and costs in Duncan police court Monday after pleading guilty to fishing in non-tidal waters without a licence.

Blewett had been checked by game warden William Fowkes near the Cowichan River on Jan. 30.

DUNCAN — Judges of 84 cakes entered in the B.C. Power Commission's Teen Town cake baking contest will take place at the Knights of Pythias Hall, Brae Road, at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

Miss Jean M. Jacobsen, Cowichan High School home economics teacher, one of four judges, will pick the cake that wins a de luxe mixer donated by the BCPC.

Mrs. Gudrun Madsen, Duncan, will demonstrate the "Golden Rule Method on Pattern Making."

GANGES — A meeting of trustees of the newly formed fire protection district on Salt Spring Island has named Fred Donaghy of Ganges as the new fire chief.

A new fire truck will arrive by the end of February and be based at Fulford Harbor.

JARVIS DRAWS GALLERY'S LARGEST AUDIENCE

'Society Afraid of the Artist'

The Greater Victoria Art Gallery Monday night was packed with the largest lecture audience in its history. More than 300 persons, many standing, heard a mildly scholarly, sculptor, and now editor of the magazine Canadian Art, is not known for his flat-terry of the status quo. The 44-year-old Rhodes But he termed the Victoria

'AND PROSECUTE THE CONTRACTORS!'

Slip-Covers for Ugly Buildings

Erection of ugly, unlovely buildings ought to be regarded as a criminal offence, with the contractors liable for punishment," Alan Jarvis told Victoria's Art Gallery patrons Monday night.

"There should be punitive legislation," Mr. Jarvis contended. "If a manufacturer produces a product that smells—or stinks—he can be prosecuted for creating a public nuisance.

"But if a contractor puts up a building that stinks, an offence to the eye forever, he should be prosecuted, too."

Jarvis said that architects should be "the leaders of society" because people have to live with their works for all time.

To illustrate his point, he described a ramble around Vancouver in which he came upon "a work of private enterprise—the B.C. Electric building—one of the most beautiful buildings in North America."

"It stands out like a good deed in a naughty world."

"Walk down the street a couple of blocks and examine a public works effort—the federal post office."

"I think the only hope for the thing is a slip-cover."

"It needs about 5,000 yards of chintz, with a zipper."

gallery "handsome" and said it "looks like a million, and I'm not being rude to other galleries."

Society, he said, is generally afraid of the artist.

"This fear is based on the artist's ability to 'give away' of himself, often more than the average man likes."

But the artist has a vital role in society because it is through him that the human heart—outlook—is enlarged.

"Art ought to be in the fabric of the community."

"BUNNY SCHOOL"

No endorser of "pretty pictures," Mr. Jarvis hit out at what he called the "bunny school."

"I believe the job of art is to enlarge human experience, sometimes in a most painful way. The objective of art is not primarily concerned with beauty at all."

"Some art upsets the viewer, and is designed to do that."

This pattern, Mr. Jarvis pointed out, broadened the emotional outlook of the individual.

"It is a question of being 'articulate' through images, as one can be through words."

Every child should learn about art, he said, as the form was an integral part of "growing up."

Following his lecture he endorsed the principle of city councils assuming "some expenses" concerning art gallery operation, "though the criticism of the exhibits shown must be left to the professional."

BLUE JEANS

While there was no shortage of the fur-stole type in the audience, there was also a fair sprinkling of the blue-jean crowd, some bearded.

Mr. Jarvis was director of the National Gallery from May, 1955, until last September, when he resigned.

Courthouse Rock Helps Build New Breakwater

Rock from the excavation for the new Victoria Law Courts at Blanshard and Burrard is being trucked to the new Turkey Head breakwater in Oak Bay.

First rock excavated, about 3,000 yards, was hauled to Government House grounds at no charge, by agreement with the courthouse contractor, Commonwealth Construction Ltd.

A spokesman for the firm said the supply has been greater than demand for new roads and parking area in the Government House grounds. Now the rock is being disposed of wherever possible.

BIG RUSH FOR MATS AT LAGOON

Many Greater Victoria homes today are adorned with woven rush mats that didn't cost them a cent.

Hundreds of the mats, in bundles of 10 and more, were washed ashore Sunday in Esquimalt Lagoon.

They are of the type used to prevent dampness reaching dry cargo aboard ship.

Speculation is they were tossed overboard from a passing freighter, probably for space reasons. They are bulky to store.

The mats, of Japanese or Chinese make, measure six by three feet.

The bundles were water-logged, but the water had not changed the mats.

They were apparently washed in early Sunday afternoon, and hundreds of people stormed the beach picking up the "gifts" from the sea.

The mats had all disappeared by Monday.

WEDNESDAY MEETINGS

Esquimalt Golden Age Club: 2 p.m., Esquimalt Community Hall.

Victoria Real Estate Board: Noon, Empress Hotel. Speaker will be A. E. Cunningham, city wiring inspector.

B.C. Electric Company is virtually assured of obtaining an easement through the city's Thetis Lake property when city council meets Thursday.

In a letter released today, Mayor Percy Scourrah informed the Victoria Fish and Game Protective Association that he would vote for the easement.

The mayor's vote likely will tip the scales in favor of granting the power line easement for $5,200.

FUND NOT MENTIONED

The Fish and Game Association offered to raise the $5,200 from conservation groups angered by the easement proposal if council would refuse the power line appeal.

The mayor's letter thanked the association for its $100 donation but omitted any mention of the "save the park fund" offer.

Mayor Scourrah said the easement would not cut through virgin timber. He added that while conservationists will not admit it in public, "privately a number of them do admit that the situation is not nearly as bad as they thought it was."

NOT SO IMPORTANT

"This question of a power line going through the remote area, which is really not part of the park, has been 'blown up' and is all out of proportion to its importance," the mayor wrote.

He said the $5,200 BCE payment would be used to develop the lake area off the park.

Based on their previous stands, Aldermen Geoffrey Edgelow, A. I. Curtis, J. L. W. McLean and Hugh Ramsay are expected to vote in favor of the easement. This would constitute a majority.

Calgary Man Charged After Arrest in U.S.

A 27-year-old Californian arrested by U.S. immigration after a ferry trip from Sidney to Anacortes Friday was charged in city police court Monday with false pretences involving a cheque for $97.

E. H. Stott was remanded to Wednesday for election, at the request of counsel Alan Bigelow.

Prosecutor T. P. O'Grady said two additional charges for false pretences also involving worthless cheques would be dealt with Wednesday. The latter were for about $40 each, he said.

It is alleged Stott bought a travel ticket from Blaney's Travel Service Jan. 25 using the $97 cheque.

CCF MEETS APRIL 22 IN VANCOUVER

New membership totals indicate the B.C.-Yukon section of the CCF has reached its greatest strength in history, party leader Robert Strachan said today.

He said the total membership is double that of 1956, just before the last provincial election.

Mr. Strachan made the statement in announcing the 1960 convention of the party, which will be held at Vancouver April 22, 23 and 24.

He said in view of the membership growth he would not repeat actual figures, and he said the election year anticipation, the convention will probably be the biggest in his party's history.

Nanaimo Firm To Appeal Gasline Award

Magna Estimates Called Inaccurate

Island Transmission Co. of Nanaimo, which bid for rights to build a $16,000,000 pipeline from the mainland to Vancouver Island and lost, will appeal its case to the B.C. cabinet.

The Public Utilities Commission on Jan. 13 gave Magna Pipelines Co. Ltd. of Vancouver the right to build the pipeline.

Island Transmission president Richard Bond, said today the case will be based in part on the contention that inaccurate figures were used by Magna in estimating the consumer gas consumption in the first five years on the island.

Island Transmission also holds that Magna would consistently lose money unless gas prices were increased or a government subsidy created.

Mr. Bond said Magna must finance 35 per cent of its operation by sale of stock. He doubts the government would permit such sale if there was danger of bankruptcy.

NQ DATE SET

Island Transmission will contend that Magna plans to use a flexible pipeline which has never been manufactured and does not meet the specifications of the Provincial Pipelines Act, Mr. Bond said.

Mr. Bond said the cabinet has not indicated when it will hear his company's submission, although application for a hearing has been submitted to Provincial Secretary Wesley Black.

Quadra Street Ruling Tonight

Saanich public works committee will meet tonight to approve a $270,000 program for the reconstruction of Quadra Street from the municipal boundary to Reynold's Road. The committee's move follows assurance from the provincial highways department that the government this year will re-classify the road to a secondary highway and will pay half the cost of its reconstruction.

Greek Shipmaster Took Last Voyage

"One more voyage" proved to be the last for a Greek shipmaster who spent 43 of his 60 years at sea.

Capt. Ioannis Koulourdis collapsed aboard his ship in Port Alberni Harbor, and died of a heart attack in West Coast Hospital last Friday.

He was master of the Greek freighter Andros Pilgrim, which arrived at Cowichan Bay today to continue loading.

Capt. Koulourdis had intended to retire at 60. But his owners offered him a final voyage. He accepted because the ship was headed for B.C. and this was one part of the world he had never visited.

Engineers Hard Hit By Action

The B.C. Power Commission has laid off 200 employees since last November in a continuing "thinning out" process, it was learned today.

The commission has cut its manpower from about 2,200 to 1,000 since the completion of major developments last year, the last two being the Georgia gas turbine generating station near Chemainus and the Ash River hydro development near the Albernethy.

MANY ENGINEERS

Engineers have felt the reductions severely, it was reported.

The trend is expected to continue until a decision is reached on development of new power sources—the Columbia River being the prime hope for the future.

All departments of the commission have been asked to submit reports concerning personnel needs and duties as the entire framework of the organization is examined job by job.

A commission spokesman, queried on reports of job-cutting and sinking morale in some departments, said this morning, reductions in staff commenced about 18 months ago as the commission neared the close of an intensive period of construction between 1954 and 1958.

AWAIT DECISION

"As the work load continued to fall, these reductions have continued at a diminishing rate to the present time. Any reversal of this trend can only result from a new program of capital expansion, which in turn must await results of decisions to be taken on development of new power sources."

The commission spokesman said a special panel is reviewing the whole organization and "further rearrangements in staff may result."

He pointed out that in many cases revamping of duties are ordered instead of outright staff reduction.

"However, we expect it to result in a well-knit working force ready to carry on commission service with maximum efficiency and economy," the spokesman said.

Power commission board member, Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan, announced in the legislature Monday that an anticipated $1,000,000 deficit in 1960 does not now appear likely.

Rites Wednesday For Veteran City Bandmaster

Funeral service will be held in the Salvation Army Citadel Wednesday at 3.15 p.m. for bandmaster William Ratcliffe who died in Veterans' Hospital Saturday, aged 77.

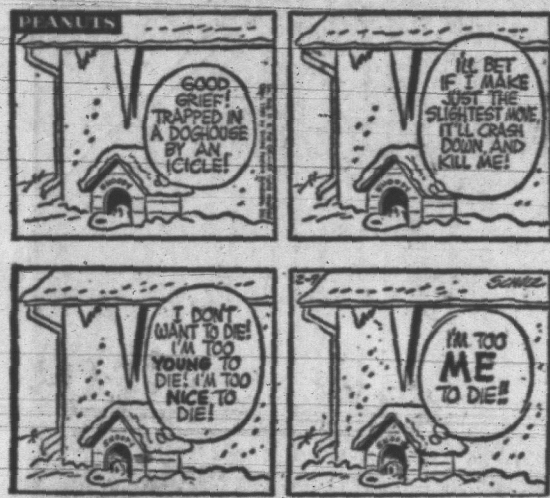

He had been a Salvation Army bandmaster since an early age.

Mr. Ratcliffe, born in Lancashire, England, came to Canada in 1903 and had lived in Victoria since 1932.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. William Hastings of Victoria, and Mrs. William Fidler, Courtenay; two sons, Major Wilfred Ratcliffe, of the Salvation Army, in St. John's, Nfld., and Sgt. William Ratcliffe, RCAF, Edmonton.

Two brothers, John and Joseph, and a sister, Mrs. Marion Conliffe, live in Victoria.

Interment will be in Royal Oak Burial Park with McCalls in charge of arrangements.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Douglas M. Clark, 3338 Wordsworth, was fined a total $30 when he pleaded guilty in city police court Monday to three counts of failing to file social security and municipal aid tax forms for the period September-November, 1959.

Henry Sekkemo, no given address, was fined $25 and $2.50 costs when he pleaded guilty to a charge of failing to file 1957 income tax return on demand.

Frank Robert Carlow, 2607 Selwyn, was fined $150 and $6.50 costs when he appeared in Colwood RCMP court Monday charged with driving while his licence was suspended.

James Edwin Hambley, 1132 Johnson, previously fined for impaired driving, was prohibited from driving for one month when he appeared in city police court Monday.

A collection of family papers and documents relating to J. H. Schofield, who represented the West Kootenays in the B.C. Legislature between 1907 and 1908, has been presented to the Provincial Archives. Included are manuscripts recording experiences of Mr. Schofield's father who was a Hudson Bay Company factor in Manitoba in the mid-1800s.

ASK THE TIMES

Q.—If a young man wishes to become a surveyor, what are the necessary steps? D.M.M.

A.—A preliminary examination must be taken with the Corporation of B.C. Land Surveyors, 605 Courtney St., in Victoria. Primarily the basis of tests is mathematics. A successful candidate is then articulated for three years to a B.C. land surveyor, and may be graduated, after taking further examinations, with a B.C. land surveyor degree. At present it is not a university course.

Q.—When were rings first given to mark engagements? E.B.

A.—In early Roman times dates obscure.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to edit columns in local problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stocks or antiques. These should be submitted to dealers.

Anyone wishing a question answered by the Times, addressed to "Ask the Times," Editor, Questions and answers will be published daily.

MASS DOOR-TO-DOOR CANYASS of Greater Victoria for university building funds March 30 was under discussion today by University of Victoria student committee in charge of arrangements, left to right: Richard Elwood, Lynda Chan, Marilyn Ardley, chairman and president of the students' council; Philip Clark and Bryan Ralph. More than 1,000 university students and another 2,000 friends will undertake the residential drive, working under the committee and team captains. All will have identification.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Send a Valentine Card Now
To Mark This Special Day

By PENNY SAVER

With full stocks of Valentine cards, stationery departments can provide many an interesting interlude these days! Browsing in one this morning it seemed to me that cards conveying humor and realism were making vast inroads on those laden with time honored sentiments. An example is the 25-cent card that asks the question, "What could be nicer than Valentine's Day?" on the cover. Answer, on turning the page, proves to be "Pay Day!" Certainly not designed to raise a mild flutter in the breast of a loved one, it still seemed to be one of department's best sellers.

Not that there's a dearth of the good old "hearts and flowers" variety. Whether you have a nickel or $5 set aside for your romantic remembrance—there's a card that will prove to be just what you're looking for.

One at $5 comes in a large pink gift box. Cherubic cupids draw attention to a lace-edged inset that reveals a fold finished charm bracelet displayed on a padded pink cushion. Lift the cover and you see the bracelet, set with colored stones and, a loving message to "my wife."

You'll give hubby a bit of a jolt if he opens up your gift on morning of Valentine's Day to find a pair of the lace-edged undershorts I saw today. In rich Valentine red, broadcloth shorts have strong elastic tops. Lower hems are lavishly trimmed with white cotton lace. After he's recovered from initial shock you can draw his attention to chain link threading that will allow him to remove offending lace with little or no trouble! Undershorts are selling at $1.95.

Gift that would really warm his heart would be one of the new white broadcloth shirts that sell for $4. These are the best buy I've seen in men's shirts for a long time.

Shirts require little or no ironing and have fused collars and cuffs that can be converted for either button or link fasteners. Sanitized, you can bleach them with confidence. Another good feature is non-chip buttons. Low price is possible because of firm's new factory in Canada.

For information on any of these items phone Penny at EV 2-3131.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Here's the 'Lowdown'
On Eyebrow Make-Up

Today let me tell you a few things about eyebrow make-up. I am especially interested in this because I believe that many women who know how to apply mascara and draw the fine line at the base of the lashes of the upper lids, have little knowledge of brow make-up.

You may know some of these tricks but I doubt that you know all of them. In the first place never use a black eyebrow pencil only. A dark brown is much more natural looking on a brunette and a lighter brown on a blonde.

No hard lines should be drawn and the effect should be soft and feathery. In fact the strokes should look like real hairs.

Some women make a mistake by trying to make the eyebrows too long, or in other words by bringing the inside line of the brow too close to the nose. This part of the brow should be blurred with the finger after the pencil has been used. Emphasis should be placed on the highest part of the curve of the brows; lighter toward the nose and darker at the top of the arches.

I bet not many of you do the following. It is imperative for good brow makeup to dust the brows with powder after the pencil has been used. Otherwise the wax of the pencil will shine and look unnatural. After this use a little brow brush to remove excess powder.

For unruly hairs in the brows (those which are in the line of the brows so that you do not want to remove them but which will not remain in place) use a very little soap or a hair set.

If you would like to have my leaflet about makeup send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 50 "What's Going On?" Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

MRS. LUMSDEN GIVEN LIFE MEMBERSHIP

At conclusion of annual luncheon meeting of Florence Nightingale Chapter, IODE, in the Pacific Club on Monday, Mrs. Thomas Lumsden was presented with a life membership in that chapter.

Retiring regent, Mrs. William Hudson made the presentation and Mrs. J. L. Gates presented the emcee.

Mrs. Lumsden started her work in IODE with the Florence Nightingale Chapter and has been one of its regents. She has held the office of Municipal regent, provincial organizing secretary and provincial vice-regent and is still active in IODE work in the province. She also holds a life membership in Provincial Chapter.

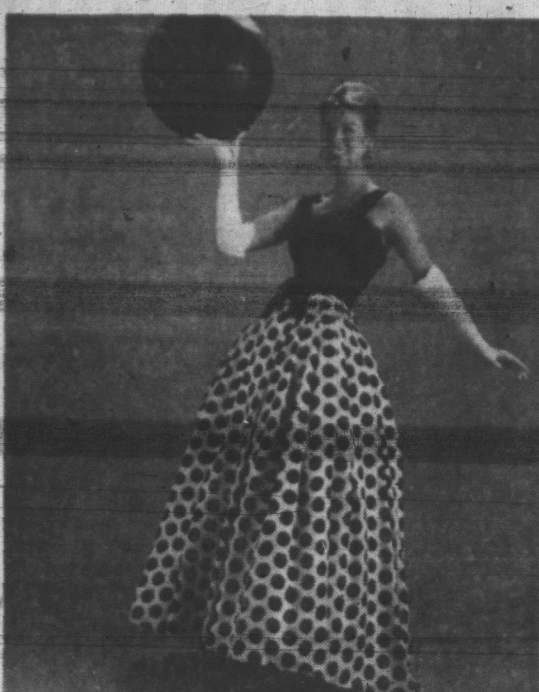

There was 38 present at the annual luncheon meeting. Included in this number was seven new members.

In Montreal, recently, Canadian Couturiers held their showing of spring fashions. At right is a polka dot gown in black and white in a soft blend of silk and viscose. It is a Raoul Jean Foutie design. Balloon sleeves frame bias-draped bodice of the elegant ball gown at centre designed by Olivia of Hamilton. Fabric is of white terylene crepe in a blue and green floral print and bound at the waist by a floor-length sash of chartreuse. Eve Lyn, Montreal, designed dramatic gown, left, in white viscose.

Florence Nightingale Chapter Gives Reports

Forty-seventh annual meeting of Florence Nightingale Chapter, IODE, was held following luncheon in the Pacific Club on Monday.

Mrs. William Hudson presided. Special guest was Municipal Chapter regent, Mrs. Owen Fowler.

Despite fact that the chapter has had no main project since closing of the TB Pavilion at Royal Jubilee Hospital, reports showed much activity in different phases of IODE work.

Bursary of $100 was given to a student nurse wishing to continue studies; local needy cases were assisted; two showers of canned goods had been held for the retarded children; money was donated to city welfare to purchase food for hampers and wool and flannel for garments for overseas. Two adopted schools, at Saturna and Sidney Inlet, were given books to add to libraries started by the chapter last year. Books, educational reels and school supplies were also sent.

A sum of $50 was given to the Jubilee Hospital building fund; $10 to assist in building a water garden for the blind, and $27 to the National Chapter fund to build a community hall at Frobisher Bay for the Eskimos.

Fund raising events included a garden party, two bake sales, raffles and bingo parties.

The treasurer's report showed receipts of $501.01; disbursements of $688.95 and a balance in the bank of $196.87.

The new regent is Mrs. Cyril Baker; vice-regents, Mrs. W. R. Roskelley and Miss M. Hurst; secretary, Mrs. A. R. Minnis; treasurer, Mrs. L. H. Tweedie; education secretary, Mrs. N. Turner; Echoes, Mrs. Hudson; standard bearer, Mrs. K. Mills; and Services at Home and Abroad, Mrs. R. Van Wart.

Joint Tenancy Property Exempt From Taxes, Local Council Told

Joint tenancy of property by husbands and wives and making of wills was strongly advocated by Miss Constance D. Holmes, barrister and solicitor, when she addressed an annual meeting of the Local Council of Women in the Public Library music room, Monday afternoon.

"Property owned under joint tenancy," she told members, "is exempt from succession duties. Even if a will states that the property be given to someone other than the co-tenant it will still revert automatically to the other party."

Miss Holmes pointed out difference between property owned by "joint tenancy" and "tenants in common."

"When one of the parties in a tenants-in-common agreement pass away, his or her portion passes to his estate and has no effect on portion owned by other party. In contrast, joint tenancy ensures that one portion passes to the other party on his or her demise."

If a home is registered under the husband's name under the Wives' Protection Act a wife, even if she is a minor, may still register an entry on a title.

"This means," vivacious, fast-speaking Miss Holmes explained, "that the husband cannot dispose of the property without his wife's consent. Entry is cancelled on the death of the wife."

Recent change in laws permit married women to acquire, own and dispose of property. Miss Holmes told her audience.

Stressing importance of making a will, she pointed out that wills were valid whether made out at home or in a solicitor's office. "But," she cautioned, "don't forget to make it under the stated conditions. This means that the testator signs at the end of the will and his or her signature is witnessed by two people. Common mistake made is that of not having all three sign at the same time. This is important."

"You must be 21 years or over to be able to make a will. Only exception to this rule are serving members of the Canadian services."

Mrs. Bert Noel, president, presented Miss Holmes with a corsage of pink carnations. Corsages for both Miss Holmes and council officers had been donated by council member, Miss L. M. Savory.

Vote of thanks to the speaker was given by Mrs. D. M. Cox. "What we have heard here this afternoon would have cost us a lot of money had we gone to a lawyer's office," she said. "We are very grateful."

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Bain, 544 Whiteside Street, have announced the engagement of their youngest daughter, Bonnie Diane, to Kenneth John Powell, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Powell, 4481 Markham Road. The wedding will take place on February 27 at 7:30 p.m., in Metropolitan United Church with Dr. F. E. H. James officiating. Attendants will be Miss Janice Watt, Miss Roseline Trees and Miss Doreen Laith; the best man, Mr. Neil Lafek, and ushers, Mr. Keith Powell and Mr. Gary Wilner. (Photo by Campbell Studio.)

DEAR ABBY . . .

A 30-Year-Old Baby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Our eldest son has always been a problem.

He has had two bad marriages and his third one is now going on the rocks. His first wife keeps their two children, but he supports them. His second wife is keeping the next two. He supports them, also. His present wife isn't fit to raise dogs, much less children, so the court awarded him custody of his three little ones. A twin to see? Don is 16 and I am 15. I have a twin brother and a brother who is 16 and another brother who is 18. Don seems to be friendly with all of them. He even came over with a basket of apples for my mother.

Sometimes when Don comes over he spends the whole time talking to me. Other times if I am in the basement or not around he doesn't even try to

DEAR ABBY: I don't know if I've got a big crush on him or not. I don't want to know it. How can I find out for sure who Don comes here so much to see? BIG CRUSH.

DEAR CRUSH: If Don is 16, I'd say the one he pays the least attention to is the one he comes over to see.

DEAR ABBY: Isn't common courtesy simply "consideration for others"? Then why don't people who smoke have a little consideration for those who do not?

I've had smoke blown in my face at such places as Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions, Chamber of Commerce and church gatherings. When I come home my clothes smell like I've been warehouse.

Is it out of order to tell smokers who offend to please stop it?

DEAR SMOKED OUT: It is out of order to make a general complaint, but if anyone is considerate enough (and some are) to ask if you mind if he smokes—don't be a hypocrite. Say you DO mind.

DEAR ABBY: After reading the letter about the laundry man who spends 45 minutes with a lady on his route, I had to write this:

There is a lady on my street who has a good-looking young gentleman visitor every day. He comes about the same time every morning after her husband goes to work. He usually stays about two hours. I have also known him to visit her in the afternoon and stay until minutes before the lady's husband comes home. This goes on in broad daylight for all to see. Abby, I know this is true because I am that lady. And the "other man" is my brother who lives out in the country by himself.

Busy 'Holiday' Year For IODE Chapter

A year of service and community interest was recorded at annual meeting of Major John Hebdon Gillespie Chapter, IODE, Monday evening in the Humber Road home of Mrs. J. A. Pollard.

Mrs. V. A. Downard, regent, told members, "We decided that we would have a holiday last year and start in fresh now."

In spite of the "holiday" chapter had an impressive record. Mrs. C. R. Stein, services at home and abroad, reported that $105.15 had been spent on this work. Program included placing of floral spray on the Cross of Sacrifice, giving bedding, clothes and food to two needy families, and making four visits and donations of flowers to the Veterans' Hospital.

Subscriptions to papers and magazines had been given to the hospital, and wool was donated to Silver Threads Society.

Education secretary Mrs. H. C. Johnston reported that $150 bursary had been presented; $5 donated to the Golden Jubilee Scholarship and $25 had been spent on chapter's adopted schools at Langford and Aleza Lake. In addition, two prizes were given to students of Aleza Lake school for penmanship and writing.

Ten dollars had been donated towards printing of Canadian Scene, paper published to help immigrants understand Canadian way of life, said Mrs. A. J. T. Laundry, immigration.

Mrs. P. W. Bell, membership, announced an increase of three members during past year.

Treasurer Mrs. E. A. Eames reported receipts of $422.42, disbursements of $451.23 and a bank balance of $150.46. Donation of $25 had been made to Canadian Eskimo Fund (for building community hall at Frobisher Bay) and $25 to Queen Elizabeth Fund.

Profit of $60.53 had been realized from making of corsets.

PROJECTS.

More Household Problems

Mrs. D. A. G. would like to know how to remove crayon marks from her children's bedroom walls. She doesn't want to take trouble of painting walls again as it is a new home. O. Pedersen, 2177 Queens Avenue, Sidney, is searching for two old songs, "The Lightening Express" and "Won't You Come Over to My House." Mr. Pedersen would like to borrow song sheets.

Answers to Questions

Solutions continue to come in for subscriber who wants to know how to remove warts from the hands. Mrs. G. W. prescribes oil of cinnamon. "I just dabbed a little on (using the cork) every time I had my hands in water. It's so pleasant to use—doesn't burn at all. I got rid of two warts in next to no time."

Mrs. G. W. also recommends use of paste wax for removing black shoe marks from floors. "Put a little on a cloth and rub it in—if you persist you'll find the spots will disappear," she advises.

Mrs. F. Kamphuis recommends glycerine for removing creamy tea or coffee stains from blankets. Moisten spot with warm water and wash with soap. If spots are stubborn, they can be soaked in glycerine for a while.

This reader also came up with a solution for Miss R. A. who want to know how to remove lint from a black cotton dress. Wind some Scotch tape sticky side out, around the fingers and rub over the dress. Tape will remove lint easily.

Another solution for the subscriber who wanted to know how to take shoe polish marks off linoleum.

Mrs. W. Court, 181 Crease Avenue says: Put some hard wax on a cloth and rub the marks with it and the marks will come right off.

Tolls Scandal Charges Loom as Homes Raided

FROGMAN STILL ALIVE, A PRISONER IN RUSSIA?

LONDON (Reuters) — Cmdr. Lionel Crabb, British frogman who mysteriously disappeared while diving near a visiting Russian ship in 1956, was reported by a newspaper today as "alive and a prisoner in Russia."

The four-year mystery of Crabb's disappearance took a new twist with a report in the London Daily Sketch. It says a London publishing firm is claiming that "photostats and transcripts of a top-secret Russian dossier, which have been smuggled to Britain, reveal the full story of his kidnapping and his prisoner's job in Russia."

The 46-year-old navy diver disappeared at Portsmouth, Eng., when Soviet warships that brought Nikita Khrushchev and former premier Nikolai Bulganin to Britain were in harbor there.

A headless body later found floating off the coast was believed at the time to be that of Crabb. "But no one could identify the body," a spokesman for the publishing firm is quoted as saying.

"Crabb was not drowned. He was captured by the Russians and taken aboard the cruiser he was investigating."

Commons Drops Bridge Probe

OTTAWA (CP) — Justice Minister Fulton today said there is a decided possibility that criminal charges will be laid as a result of information turned up in 25 RCMP raids on homes of employees and former employees of the National Harbors Board in Montreal.

The raids were conducted during the weekend as part of an investigation into toll collections on Montreal's Jacques Cartier Bridge, operated by the harbors board.

A House of Commons investigation into the situation was called off today because of the police action.

Toll revenue jumped sharply last fall following installation of mechanical collection devices.

Mr. Fulton made his statement in the Commons after Lionel Chevrier (Liberal, Montreal Laurier) had drawn attention to news reports of the raids.

NEW REPORT

Mr. Fulton said that in December Transport Minister Hees asked him to resume earlier investigations into the toll situation but that he had no report until Monday.

However, a few minutes later he said a new report had been handed him to the effect that a great deal of additional information and a number of documents had been obtained during the raids.

There was "a decided possibility" that on examination the information obtained would warrant criminal charges being placed. No decision on that point had been made pending close examination of the material seized. He did not elaborate on the type of information.

The raids involved the homes of both present and past employees of the National Harbors Board who worked on Jacques Cartier Bridge as toll collectors. The bridge is operated by the board on behalf of the Ottawa, Quebec and Montreal governments.

The CNR said that revenues on Victoria bridge increased approximately 10 per cent following the installation of automatic collections.

It was also learned seven employees of the Jacques Cartier Bridge were hired on the recommendation of members of parliament.

Transport Minister Hees said one of the employees hired, identified only as H. Fournier, was recommended by former Liberal secretary of state Roch Pinard and current associate defence minister Pierre Sevigny. Four others were recommended by Liberal MPs and two by Conservatives.

New Violence In Labor Row

VANCOUVER (CP)—Police said today a waterfront labor dispute may have been behind the case of a 33-year-old seaman who was beaten and robbed here Monday night.

Cliff Nyström said he was attacked by two men who beat him over the head with a bottle, rifled his pockets and took $60 outside a downtown hotel. Nyström was treated for head lacerations.

He told police he was a former member of the independent "Seafarers' International Union and now is with the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway General and Transport Workers (CLC).

$700 A DAY 'COLLECTED' IN POCKETS?

MONTREAL (CP) — The Star says information from extremely reliable sources indicates that some bridge-toll collectors in the Montreal area were able to pocket from $50 to $700 a day before automatic collectors were installed.

The newspaper also says there have been reports that bridge tokens now in use have been sold at points near the bridge for as little as one-cent each at the rate of 1,000 for $10. The regular price of the tokens is $4.00 for a package of 50.

LYING LOW FOR REPAIRS?

Supply Dumps Found In Mystery Sub Hunt

(Times News Service)

BUENOS AIRES — Food and supply dumps today were reported to have been found near the Gulf of Nuevo, 700 miles south of here, where the Argentine navy hunted a foreign submarine believed to be hiding on the seabed.

The dumps were presumed to be there to supply the intruder's crew, according to local radio stations, which broadcast the unconfirmed reports.

The hunt has been going on for 10 days, with depth charges, bombs and a close watch by naval ships on the gulf. The 10-mile-wide mouth of the gulf has been heavily mined.

Naval undersecretary Rear-Admiral Eladio Vazquez said Monday night that no doubt the submarine is there and the navy is keeping up "intimidating operations" to force it to the surface.

The newspaper La Prensa has said the submarine was believed to have been hit by a bomb.

Newspapers here speculated that the submarine might be nuclear-powered, but no confirmation of this rumor could be obtained.

SIGNAL PICKED UP

There also were reports that sonar search gear on Argentine ships had picked up sounds which might indicate either that the sub's crew is repairing it or that it is sending signals in "underwater code."

A fleet of planes and ships was patrolling the suspect area off the southeastern Argentine coast, including warships of every type.

The Gulf is a traditional manoeuvre area for the Argentine navy. A "mystery" submarine was attacked and possibly damaged in the same general vicinity last year.

'COPTERS TO TAKE OFF GROUND SHIP CREW

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The wine tanker Angelo Petri ran aground today on a shoal south of the San Francisco channel entrance.

The Coast Guard dispatched three helicopters to remove the 40-man crew.

Explosions Rip Fireworks Plant

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md. (UPI)—A series of explosions today ripped the Havre de Grace Fireworks Co., touching off a multi-alarm fire. It was feared that some of the company's employees may have been trapped in the plant.

State police said they were unable to get near the 15-building complex, immediately, and one officer said there was a chain of explosions felt for miles.

Firefighting equipment and ambulances from a number of nearby communities sped to the scene.

One policeman estimated that about 50 persons, both men and women, worked in the plant. But it could not be ascertained immediately how many escaped safely during the recurring explosions.

The factory, which specialized in manufacturing so-

Rail Clerks

Win Against Teamsters

OTTAWA (CP)—Frank H. Hall's railway clerks have beaten the big teamsters union in their first jurisdictional clash before the Canada Labor Relations Board, it was learned today.

The board has rejected an application in which the teamsters sought certification as bargaining agent for a group of Vancouver employees of the CPR's new "merchandise service." The application, involving about 300 employees, was fought before the board by Hall's union with the backing of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers. All three are members of the Canadian Labor Congress.

The Brotherhood, which has a minority of the men involved, has indicated it is ceding its bargaining rights in favor of the railway clerks.

Manitoba All the Way To Arctic?

WINNIPEG (CP)—A resolution seeking expansion of Manitoba to the shores of the Arctic will be presented soon in the Manitoba legislature, a northern member said today.

John Ingebrigtsen, Progressive Conservative member for Churchill, said he will introduce a resolution asking the provincial government to approach Ottawa on the question of transferring the Keewatin territory of the Northwest Territories to Manitoba.

Keewatin lies directly north of the province.

Such a transfer would double Manitoba's land area, increase the area of fresh water by one-quarter, and help development of possible vast uranium, fish and fur resources.

LOVELY WEATHER FOR GAMES

Plenty of snow and ice is just what the athletes wanted as they prepared for Winter Olympic Games which start in nine days at Squaw Valley, Calif. But they could get too much of a good thing. Rain and high winds Monday turned into a raging blizzard, and more snow is forecast.

FOR THERMAL POWER

BCE Options Big Coal Mine

An option on a multi-million ton coal deposit near Lillooet was picked up from a former Victoria family today by the B.C. Electric Company.

The purchase price was estimated at $2,000,000.

Dr. Harry L. Purdy, executive vice-president of BCE, said the purchase of the coal deposit is a safeguard against its customers being forced to pay excessive costs in the future and against possible shortages in the power supply if hydro power production is delayed.

The deposits, known as Hat Creek coal deposits, were bought from Inland Resources Limited of Vancouver which is two-thirds owned by Wilson Mining Corporation.

All shares in Wilson Mining are owned by president Bob Wilson, his brother Keith, managing director and head of Western Marine Enterprises Ltd., Nanaimo, and his sister

Mrs. Barbara D. Foreman of Vancouver.

The rich deposits, 14 miles north of Pavilion and 178 miles north of Vancouver by Pacific Great Eastern Railway, put BCE in a position to develop its own 2,600,000 horsepower thermal plant—using coal—in a project which would cost an estimated $200,000,000.

Dr. Purdy said the move would not interfere with bargaining now proceeding with Peace River Power Development Co. which plans a $630,000,000 hydro project on the Peace River.

LARGE RESERVES

Vancouver geologists and mining engineers estimate there are 340,000,000 tons of coal in a square mile area of the Hat Creek deposits 20 miles from BCE transmission lines.

The known reserves are sufficient to keep a 2,600,000-horsepower plant operating for 40 years.

In Vancouver, W. C. Mainwaring, president of Peace River Power Development Co., said he was confident BCE will choose Peace River hydro power in preference to thermal development.

Peace power would allow BCE to conserve capital for other expansion, he said.

SHOT

Rev. Leo K. Bishop, vice-president of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, was seriously wounded Monday night when he and his wife resisted attempts of a teen-age Negro gang to rob them. The youths accosted the pair near their south-side Chicago home. (AP Wirephoto.)

SOCREDS HIT WICKS MOVE

(See Page 7)

A second Socred backbencher today expressed disappointment with the announcement of Commercial Transport Minister Wicks Monday that he would reconstitute the Road Users' Royal Commission.

Irvine Corbett (SC, Yale) said he felt the minister should reduce licence and overweight fees for truck operators without further ado.

Uranium Study Set

OTTAWA (CP)—The bleak future facing Canadian uranium producers and consumers over Canada's approach to economic electric power from atomic energy will be investigated this session by a select committee of the Commons, it was disclosed today.

EIGHTH OUT OF 32 TO DIE ON GALLOWS

Reprieve Denied, Youth Hanged

PARRY SOUND, Ont. (CP)—Marvin McKee, 20, went to a "quiet, efficient and quick" execution early today, said sheriff Stephen Elliott, of Bracebridge, Ont.

McKee, convicted of murdering Huntsville taxi driver Bruce Spiers, 22, dropped through the trapdoor of the gallows at 12:07 a.m. and was pronounced dead 11 minutes later by the jail surgeon, Dr. A. J. L. Wright.

Reports said McKee went to his death quietly and confessed to his crime shortly before he died.

When told Monday that the cabinet would not commute his sentence, McKee requested that his eyes be given to the Eye Bank of Canada and that he be buried in the jailyard as a reminder and deterrent to other boys who chose to live carelessly.

CALM REACTION

Jail officials said the requests would be granted.

Rev. Gordon McElhose, of the Pentecostal Church, who stayed with the youth during his last hours, said McKee took the news calmly when told a commutation was refused.

The minister said the youth had made the request to be buried in the prison yard "with frankness and sincerity." He said McKee had told him he had no unkind thoughts or feelings against anybody.

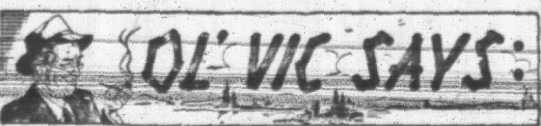

Mr. McElhose said he gave the youth communion Monday morning and that McKee had embraced the Christian faith.

McKee was the first person under 21 executed in Canada since 1947 and the eighth person hanged since the Progressive Conservative government came to power in June 1957.

Since then the government has commuted to life imprisonment 32 other death sentences.

GRAVEL PIT SLAYING

McKee was convicted of the murder Nov. 7 at Bracebridge. The bodies of Spiers and his partner, Francis Grosso, 29, were found in a gravel pit 11

OL' VIC SAYS:

On that Montreal bridge, it seems they even took a toll of the toll.

Funny, all that fuss in the Argentine about finding a submarine under the water. Where'd they expect to find it?

Heard the BCE's going to see what's in a mine.

WINNIPEG (CP)—Lack of export business in Canadian grains was a negative feature of the trading today on the Winnipeg grain exchange.

Only hint of export interest was a report of inquiries from Europe on flax, although no actual business was reported. Overnight export loadings of Canadian wheat included 440,000; United States 60,000; and West Germany 40,000.

Lakehead prices for Class Two, IWA and domestic wheat all were higher than Monday.

CHICAGO (AP)—Grain futures prices today ranged both ways on the board of the Chicago Board of Trade.

Wheat prices were limited and showed no significant trends. In nearly afternoon, dealings were a bit more active on a little better demand but trade generally was light and lacking any influences.

Rising interest rates can affect the country in two ways. Generally considered to work as a hardship on people who need money for householding or plant expansion, rising interest rates last year proved to be a bit of a blessing for the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada.

In the annual report Sun Life president George W. Bourke noted that rising interest rates in 1959 made it possible for the company to earn 4.40 per cent net on its assets.

The Toronto stock market moved indecisively amid relatively light and uninteresting trading today. Ford Motor continued to pace industrial winners with a one-point gain at 1 1/2, and Canadian Iron Foundries moved up 1/2 at 21.

Renewed buying late today bolstered a mild recovery on the New York market. Gains of about two points were made by Allied Chemical, Eastman Kodak, American Tobacco, Varian Associates, Alcan and Magna Copper.

AT TORONTO Imperial Bank was ahead 1/2 at 31 and International Paper advanced 1/2 at 108 1/2.

Alberta Gas was off 1/2 at 25, as was Bank of Montreal at 51 1/2.

Western Oils continued to move ahead but most changes were moving in a 10-25 cents range.

AT NEW YORK Hudson Bay Mining gained 1 1/2 and International Nickel, McIntyre Porcupine and Dome Mines were up slightly.

On the American stock exchange, Insurance Co. and North America jumped more than 4. Brazilian Tracton and Canadian Marconi were up 1/2 each on the Canadian list.

WINNIPEG (CP)—Lack of export business in Canadian grains was a negative feature of the trading today on the Winnipeg grain exchange.

Only hint of export interest was a report of inquiries from Europe on flax, although no actual business was reported. Overnight export loadings of Canadian wheat included 440,000; United States 60,000; and West Germany 40,000.

Lakehead prices for Class Two, IWA and domestic wheat all were higher than Monday.

CHICAGO (AP)—Grain futures prices today ranged both ways on the board of the Chicago Board of Trade.

Wheat prices were limited and showed no significant trends. In nearly afternoon, dealings were a bit more active on a little better demand but trade generally was light and lacking any influences.

JARVIS DRAWS GALLERY'S LARGEST AUDIENCE

'Society Afraid of the Artist'

The Greater Victoria Art Gallery Monday night was packed with the largest lecture audience in its history.

More than 200 persons.

many standing, heard a mildly presented but poignant lecture by the former director of the National Gallery, Alan Jarvis. The 44-year-old Rhodes scholar, sculptor, and now editor of the magazine Canadian Art, is not known for his flat-terry of the status quo.

But he termed the Victoria Society, he said, is generally afraid of the artist.

This year is based on the artist's ability to "give away" of himself, often more than the average man likes.

But the artist has a vital role in society because it is through him that the human heart, outlook, is enlarged.

"Art ought to be in the fabric of the community."

"BUNNY SCHOOL"

No endorser of "pretty pictures," Mr. Jarvis hit out at what he called the "bunny school."

"I believe the job of art is to enlarge human experience, sometimes in a most painful way. The objective of art is not primarily concerned with beauty at all."

"Some art upsets the viewer, and is designed to do that."

This pattern, Mr. Jarvis pointed out, broadened the emotional outlook of the individual.

It is a question of being "articulate" through images, as one can be through words.

Every child should learn about art, he said, as the form was an integral part of "growing up."

Following his lecture he endorsed the principle of city councils assuming "some expenses" concerning art gallery operation, "though the criticism of the exhibits shown must be left to the professional."

BLUE JEANS

While there was no shortage of the fur-stole type in the audience, there was also a fair sprinkling of the blue-jean crowd, some bearded.

Mr. Jarvis was director of the National Gallery from May, 1955, until last September, when he resigned.

Courthouse Rock Helps Build New Breakwater

Rock from the excavation for the new Victoria Law Courts at Blanshard and Burdett is being trucked to the new Turret Head breakwater in Oak Bay.

First rock excavated about 3,000 yards was hauled to Government House grounds at no charge, by agreement with the courthouse contractor, Commonwealth Construction Ltd.

A spokesman for the firm said the supply has been greater than demand for new roads and parking area in the Government House grounds. Now the rock is being disposed of wherever possible.

BIG RUSH FOR MATS AT LAGOON

Many Greater Victoria homes today are adorned with woven rush mats that didn't cost them a cent.

Hundreds of the mats, in bundles of 10 and more, were washed ashore Sunday in Esquimalt Lagoon.

They are of the type used to prevent dampness reaching dry cargo aboard ship.

Speculation is they were tossed overboard from a passing freighter, probably for space reasons. They are bulky to store.

The mats, of Japanese or Chinese make, measure six by three feet.

The bundles were water-logged, but the water had not changed the mats.

They were apparently washed in early Sunday afternoon, and hundreds of people stormed the beach picking up the "gifts" from the sea.

The mats had all disappeared by Monday.

WEDNESDAY MEETINGS

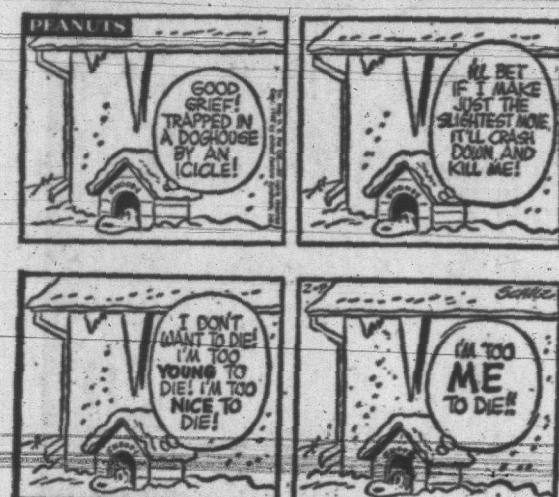

Esquimalt Golden Age Club: 2 p.m., Esquimalt Community Hall.

Victoria Real Estate Board: Noon, Empress Hotel. Speaker will be A. E. Cunningham, city wiring inspector.

BCE Seems Assured Of Thetis Easement

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Douglas M. Clark, 3338 Wordsworth, was fined a total $30 when he pleaded guilty in city police court Monday to three counts of failing to file social security and municipal aid tax forms for the period September-November, 1959.

Henry Sekkemo, no given address, was fined $25 and $2.50 costs when he pleaded guilty to a charge of failing to file 1957 income tax return on demand.

Frank Robert Carlrow, 2607 Selwyn, was fined $150 and $6.50 costs when he appeared in Colwood RCMP court Monday charged with driving while his licence was suspended.

James Edwin Hambley, 1132 Johnson, previously fined for impaired driving, was prohibited from driving for one month when he appeared in city police court Monday.

A collection of family papers and documents relating to J. H. Schofield, who represented the West Kootenays in the B.C. Legislature from 1907 and 1913, has been presented to the Provincial Archives.

Included are manuscripts recording experiences of Mr. Schofield's father who was a Hudson Bay Company factor in Manitoba in the mid-1800s.

ASK THE TIMES

Q.—If a young man wishes to become a surveyor, what are the necessary steps? D.M.M.

A.—A preliminary examination must be taken with the Corporation of B.C. Land Surveyors, 605 Courtney St., in Victoria. Primarily the basis of tests is mathematics. A successful candidate is then articulated for three years to a B.C. land surveyor, and may be graduated, after taking further examinations, with a B.C. land surveyor degree. At present it is not a university course.

Q.—When were rings first given to mark engagements?

A.—In early Roman times, dates obscure.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve complex or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to solve a problem unless it is accompanied by a self-addressed stamped envelope. Answers should be submitted to the Times, 1100 Douglas St., Victoria, B.C. Questions and answers will be published daily.

B.C. Electric Company is virtually assured of obtaining an easement through the city's Thetis Lake property when city council meets Thursday.

In a letter released today, Mayor Percy Scurrell informed the Victoria Fish and Game Protective Association that he would vote for the easement.

The mayor's vote likely will tip the scales in favor of granting the power line easement for $5,200.

FUND NOT MENTIONED

The Fish and Game Association offered to raise the $5,200 from conservation groups angered by the easement proposal. "Council would refuse the power line appeal."

The mayor's letter thanked the association for its $100 donation but omitted any mention of the "save the park" offer.

Mayor Scurrell said the easement would not cut through virgin timber. He added that while conservationists will not admit it in public, "privately a number of them do admit that the situation is not nearly as bad as they thought it was."

NOT SO IMPORTANT

"This question of a power line going through the remote area, which is really not part of the park, has been 'blown up' and is all out of proportion to its importance," the mayor wrote.

He said the $5,200 BCE payment would be used to develop the lake area of the park.

Based on their previous stands, A. I. R. Curtis, J. L. W. McLean and Hugh Ramsay are expected to vote in favor of the easement. This would constitute a majority.

Calgary Man Charged After Arrest in U.S.

A 27-year-old Canadian arrested by U.S. Immigration after a ferry trip from Sidney to Anacortes Friday was charged in city police court Monday with false pretences involving a cheque for $97.

L. H. Stott was remanded to Wednesday for election at request of counsel, Alan Bigelow.

Prosecutor T. P. O'Grady said two additional charges for false pretences—also involving worthless cheques—would be dealt with Wednesday. The latter were for about $40 each, he said.

It is alleged Stott bought a travel ticket from Blaney's Travel Service Jan. 25 using the $97 cheque.

CCF MEETS APRIL 22 IN VANCOUVER

New membership totals indicate the B.C. Yukon section of the CCF has reached its greatest strength in history, party leader Robert Strachan said today.

He said the total membership is double that of 1956, just before the last provincial election.

Mr. Strachan made the statement in announcing the 1960 convention of the party will be held at Vancouver April 22, 23 and 24.

He said in view of the membership growth (he would not reveal actual figures) and because of the election-year anticipation, the convention will probably be the biggest in the party's history.

NEAR LIGHTSHIP

Skipper Rode The Jackstay To Breakfast

One of Her Majesty's Canadian Ships was boarded at sea early today, but it was all legal and according to plan.

The boarding was carried out by Capt. J. C. Pratt, senior officer of the Second Canadian Escort Squadron, when he made a jackstay transfer from HMCS Saguenay, outbound for the Far East, to HMCS Fraser, inbound from Hawaii, near Swiftsure Lightship, at the seaward entrance to Juan de Fuca Strait.

Fraser was returning in company with HMCS Margaree from joint exercises with units of the U.S. Navy. She docked at 11 a.m.

Saguenay left at 2 p.m. Monday with HMC ships Ottawa and St. Laurent.

Capt. Pratt boarded Fraser for a conference (and breakfast) with her commanding officer, Cmdr. D. L. MacKnight, senior officer of the two-ship squadron during the Hawaiian exercises, then returned to Saguenay.

PLANE GUARD

Fraser and Margaree left Esquimalt Jan. 7, proceeded directly to Pearl Harbor where they joined two squadrons of U.S. destroyers. The destroyers carried out intensive anti-submarine warfare exercises and carrier screening exercises for a two-week period.

The Canadian ships, for one period, served as "plane guard" for one of the USN's big carriers.

Exercises are part of a continuing program of operational training with Canadian and U.S. ships taking part.

6 City Students At Parkville UBC Symposium

Six Victoria students at University of B.C. attended the recent fourth annual academic symposium at Island Hall Hotel, Parkville.

First-year law student David Anderson, 3026 McNally Road, led the discussion on "Should the Attorney be Taught Science?"

Other students at the gathering were Barbara Wallace, 830 Richmond, Alan P. D. Smith, 3081 Oakdowne, Hamish Redford, 105 Beach Drive, Frances Rigley, 301 St. Lawrence, and Margaret C. Johnston, 4965 Cordova Bay.

The symposium, sponsored by the university administration, discussed science and language requirements, ways to improve the curriculum and related matters.

Nanaimo Firm To Appeal Gasline Award

Magna Estimates Called Inaccurate

Island Transmission Co. of Nanaimo, which bid for rights to build a $16,000,000 pipeline from the mainland to Vancouver Island and lost, will appeal its case to the B.C. cabinet.

The Public Utilities Commission on Jan. 13 gave Magna Pipelines Co. Ltd. of Vancouver the right to build the pipeline.

Island Transmission president Richard Bond, said today the case will be based in part on the contention that inaccurate figures were used by Magna in estimating the consumer gas consumption in the first five years on the Island.

Island Transmission also holds that Magna would consistently lose money unless gas prices were increased or a government subsidy created.

Mr. Bond said Magna must finance 35 per cent of its operation by sale of stock. He doubts the government would permit such a sale if there was danger of bankruptcy.

NO DATE SET

Island Transmission will contend that Magna plans to use a flexible pipeline which has never been manufactured and does not meet the specifications of the Provincial Pipelines Act, Mr. Bond said.

Mr. Bond said the cabinet has not indicated when it will hear his company's submission, although application for a hearing has been submitted to Provincial Secretary Wesley Black.

Engineers Hard Hit By Action

The B.C. Power Commission Has Laid Off 200 Employees Since Last November In A Continuing "Thinning Out" Process, It Was Learned Today.

The commission has cut its manpower from about 2,200 to 1,900 since the completion of major developments last year, the last two being the Georgia gas turbine generating station near Chemainus and the Ash River hydro development near the Alberni.

NATURALIST John E. Taft, Ventura, Cal., will deliver the last of the current Audubon lecture series Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. in Oak Bay Junior High School. He will also show all-color motion pictures, taken by himself. They took four years to produce and illustrate wild life in the Shandon Hills area of California.

ERIC MARTIN TO LEAD OFF

Health Minister Eric Martin leads off the debate when the legislature resumes the throne speech debate Wednesday at 2 p.m.

He will be followed by Gordon Dowling (CCF, Burnaby), Bert Price (SC, Vancouver-Burrard) and H. E. Roche (SC, North Peace River).

A night sitting, third of the current session, is expected to start at 8 p.m. Speakers will be Public Works Minister W. N. Chant and Randolph Harding (CCF, Kaslo-Slocan).

AWAIT DECISION

"As the work load continued to fall, these reductions have continued at a diminishing rate to the present time. Any reversal of this trend can only result from a new program of capital expansion, which in turn must await results of decisions to be taken on development of new power sources."

The commission spokesman said a special panel is reviewing the whole organization and "further rearrangements in staff may result."

He pointed out that in many cases revamping of duties are ordered instead of outright staff reduction.

"However, we expect it to result in a well-knit working force ready to carry on commission service with maximum efficiency and economy," the spokesman said.

Power commission board member, Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan, announced in the legislature Monday that an anticipated $1,000,000 deficit in 1960 does not now appear likely.

Rites Wednesday For Veteran City Bandmaster

Funeral service will be held in the Salvation Army Citadel Wednesday at 3:15 p.m. for bandmaster William Ratcliffe who died in Veterans' Hospital Saturday, aged 77.

He had been a Salvation Army bandmaster since an early age.

Mr. Ratcliffe, born in Lancashire, England, came to Canada in 1903 and had lived in Victoria since 1932.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. William Hastings of Victoria, and Mrs. William Fidler, Courtenay; two sons, Major Wilfred Ratcliffe, of the Salvation Army in St. John's, Nfld., and Sgt. William Ratcliffe, RCAF, Edmonton.

Two brothers, John and Joseph, and a sister, Mrs. Marion Cunliffe, live in Victoria.

Interment will be in Royal Oak Burial Park with McCall's in charge of arrangements.

Quadra Street Ruling Tonight

Saanich public works committee will meet tonight to approve a $270,000 program for the reconstruction of Quadra Street from the municipal boundary to Reynold's Road. The committee's move follows assurance from the provincial highways department that the government this year will reclassify the road to a secondary highway and will pay half the cost of its reconstruction.

The project calls for the widening and paving of Quadra, and the installation of curbs, gutters, sidewalks, lights and trees along the thoroughfare.

It will make Quadra a super municipal road.

Council considers the reconstruction of the street important in view of its link with the Patricia Bay Highway.

Costs to residents would be in the neighborhood of $40,000 payable over a period of 20 years.

The municipality and the government would share the remainder of the costs.

SAW B.C.—THEN DIED

Greek Shipmaster Took Last Voyage

"One more voyage" proved to be the last for a Greek shipmaster who spent 43 of his 60 years at sea.

Port Ionnis Koulardis collapsed aboard his ship in Port Alberni Harbor, and died of a heart attack in West Coast Hospital last Friday.

He was master of the Greek freighter Andros Pili-grim, which arrived at Cowichan Bay today to continue loading.

Capt. Koulardis had intended to retire at 60. But his owners offered him a final voyage. He accepted because the ship was headed for B.C., and this was one part of the world he had never visited.

MASS DOOR-TO-DOOR CANVASS of Greater Victoria university building funds March 30 was under discussion today by University of Victoria student committee in charge of arrangements, left to right: Richard Elwood, Lynda Chan, Marilyn Ardley, chairman and president of the students' council, Philip Clark and Bryan Ralph. More than 1,000 university students and another 2,000 friends will undertake the residential drive, working under the committee and team captains. All will have identification.

Tripucka to Quarterback Denver Club

CALGARY (CP)—Calgary Stampeders of the Western Interprovincial Football Union said today they have been unsuccessful in attempts to sign Frank Tripucka as a back-field coach.

General manager Jim Finks said Tripucka, 44, turned down a Calgary offer to accept one to play quarterback for Denver of the National Football League.

B.C. Man Dies From Fight Injuries

VANCOUVER (CP)—Joseph Mervin Sinclair, 36-year-old woodcutter from Red Rock, B.C., died in hospital here today after apparently being injured in a fight Sunday in that community 16 miles south of Prince George.

Ottawa Studies 1968 Olympic Bid

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government still has under consideration a request that Canada be the host country for the Winter Olympics of 1968, Northern Affairs Minister Hamilton said today.

Mr. Hamilton said interests in Calgary already have applied to the government to hold the Olympics in western Canada. No decision has been reached, he indicated.

3 Held as Man Slain at Party

GRAVENHURST, Ont. (CP)—Police are holding three persons in connection with the death of Eugene Jones, 38, who died today of gunshot wounds in the back of the head. Jones, father of six children, died while being taken by ambulance to hospital in Toronto. The shooting occurred at a home in the Kilworthy district, five miles south of this town, during a drinking party.

FOR THERMAL POWER

BCE Options
Big Coal Mine

An option on a multi-million ton coal deposit near Lillooet was picked up from a former Victoria family today by the B.C. Electric Company.

The purchase price was estimated at $2,000,000.

Dr. Harry L. Purdy, executive vice-president of BCE, said the purchase of the coal deposit is a safeguard against its customers being forced to pay excessive costs in the future and against possible shortages.

In the power supply if hydro power production is delayed.

The deposits, known as Hat Creek coal deposits, were bought from Inland Resources Limited of Vancouver which is two-thirds owned by Wilson Mining Corporation.

An shares in Wilson Mining are owned by president Bob Wilson, his brother Keith, managing director and head of Western Marine Enterprises Ltd., Nanaimo, and his sister Mrs. Barbara D. Foreman of Vancouver.

The rich deposits, 14 miles from Pavilion and 178 miles north of Vancouver by Pacific Great Eastern Railway, put BCE in a position to develop its own 2,600,000 horsepower thermal plant—using coal—in a project which would cost an estimated $200,000,000.

Dr. Purdy said the move would not interfere with bargaining now proceeding with Peace River Power Development Co. which plans a $630,000,000 hydro project on the Peace River.

LARGE RESERVES

Vancouver geologists and mining engineers estimate there are 340,000,000 tons of coal in a square mile area of the Hat Creek deposits 20 miles from BCE transmission lines.

The known reserves are sufficient to keep a 2,600,000-horsepower plant operating for 40 years.

In Vancouver, W. C. Main, warring, president of Peace River Power Development Co., said he was confident BCE will choose Peace River hydro power in preference to thermal development.

Peace power would allow BCE to conserve capital for other expansion, he said.

Explosions Rip
Fireworks Plant

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md. (UPI)—A series of explosions today ripped the Havre de Grace Fireworks Co., touching off a multi-alarm fire. It was feared that some of the company's employees may have been trapped in the plant.

State police said they were unable to get near the 15-building complex immediately used in manufacturing so and one officer said there was a chain of explosions, felt for miles.

Firefighting equipment and ambulances from a number of nearby communities sped to the scene.

One policeman estimated that about 50 persons, both men and women, worked in the plant. But it could not be ascertained immediately how many escaped safely during the recurring explosions.

The factory, which specializes in manufacturing so-called "smaller fireworks," is about a half block beyond the Havre de Grace city line in a heavily inhabited residential section.

DONATES EYES

Young Killer
Hanged

PARRY SOUND, Ont. (CP)—Marvin McKee, 20, went to a "quiet, efficient and quick" execution early today, said sheriff Stephen Elliott, of Bracebridge, Ont.

McKee, convicted of murdering Huntsville taxi driver Bruce Spiers, 22, dropped through the trapdoor of the gallows at 12:07 a.m. and was pronounced dead 11 minutes later by the jail surgeon, Dr. A. J. L. Wright.

Reports said McKee went to his death quietly and confessed to his crime shortly before he died.

When told Monday that the cabinet would not commute his sentence, McKee requested that his eyes be given to the Eye Bank of Canada and that he be buried in the jailyard as a reminder and deterrent to other boys who chose to live carelessly.

CALM REACTION

Jail officials said the requests would be granted. Rev. Gordon McElhose, of the Pentecostal Church, who stayed with the youth during his last hours, said McKee took the news calmly when told a commutation was refused.

The minister said the youth had made the request to be buried in the prison yard "with frankness and sincerity." He said McKee had told him he had no unkind thoughts or feelings against anybody.

Mr. McElhose said he gave the youth communion Monday morning and that McKee had embraced the Christian faith.

McKee was the first person under 21 executed in Canada since 1947 and the eighth person hanged since the Progressive Conservative government came to power in June, 1957. Since then the government has committed to life imprisonment 32 other death sentences.

GRAVEL PIT SLAYING

McKee was convicted of the murder Nov. 7 at Bracebridge. The bodies of Spiers and his partner, Francis Grosso, 29, were found in a gravel pit 11 days after the men had disappeared.

McKee was charged jointly with Wayne Sluman, 17, who later pleaded guilty to manslaughter and was sentenced to 15 years in penitentiary.

Sluman testified the youths lured Spiers and Grosso on to a deserted road June 19.

Both taxi operators were shot with a .22-calibre rifle.

Later, the two accused returned to rob the bodies and one of them crushed Spiers' head with a rock.

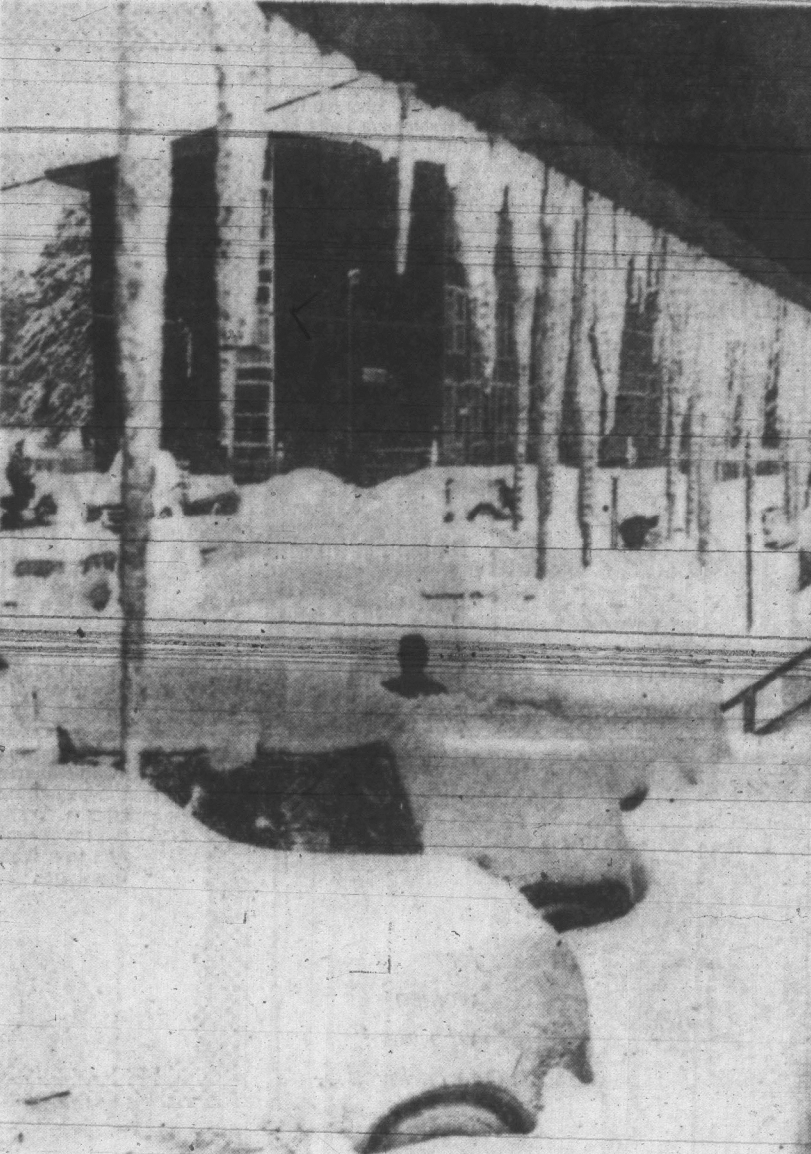

New Violence
In Labor Row

VANCOUVER (CP)—Police said today a waterfront labor dispute may have been behind the case of a 33-year-old seaman, who was beaten and robbed here Monday night.

Cliff Nystrom said he was attacked by two men who beat him over the head with a bottle, rifled his pockets and took $80 outside a downtown hotel. Nystrom was treated for head lacerations.

He told police he was a former member of the International Seafarers' Union and now is with the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, General, and Transport Workers (CLC).

The two unions are presently waging a jurisdictional dispute for control of west coast seamen.

LOVELY WEATHER FOR GAMES

Plenty of snow and ice is just what the athletes wanted as they prepared for Winter Olympic Games which start in nine days at Squaw Valley, Calif. But they could get too much of a good thing. Rain and high winds Monday turned into a raging blizzard, and more snow is forecast.

LYING LOW FOR REPAIRS?

Supply Dumps Found In Mystery Sub Hunt

(Times News Service)

BUENOS AIRES—Food and supply dumps today were reported to have been found near the Gulf of Nuevo, 700 miles south of here, where the Argentine navy hunted a lost submarine believed to be hiding on the seabed.

The dumps were presumed to be there to supply the intruder's crew, according to local radio stations, which broadcast the unconfirmed reports.

The hunt has been going on for 10 days, with depth charges, bombs and a close watch by naval ships on the gulf. The 10-mile-wide mouth of the gulf has been heavily mined.

Naval undersecretary Rear Admiral Eladio Vazquez said Monday night that no doubt the submarine is there and the navy is keeping up "intimidating operations" to force it to the surface.

The newspaper La Prensa has said the submarine was believed to have been hit by a bomb.

Newspapers have speculated that the submarine might be nuclear-powered, but no confirmation of this rumor could be obtained.

There also were reports that sonar search gear on Argentine ships had picked up sounds which might indicate either that the sub's crew is repairing it or that it is sending signals in "underwater code."

A fleet of planes and ships was patrolling the suspect area off the southeastern Argentine coast, including warships of every type.

The Nuevo Gulf is a traditional manoeuvres area for the Argentine navy. A "mystery" submarine was attacked and possibly damaged in the same general vicinity last year.

On that Montreal bridge it seems they even took a toll of the toll.

Funny, all that fuss in the Argentine about finding a submarine under the water. Where would they expect to find it?

Hear the BCE's going to try and see warts in a mine.

Raids on Homes
Staged by RCMP

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Fulton today said there is a decided possibility that criminal charges will be laid as a result of information turned up in 25 RCMP raids on homes of employees and former employees of the National Harbors Board in Montreal.

The raids were conducted during the weekend as part of an investigation into toll collections on Montreal's Jacques Cartier Bridge, operated by the harbors board.

A House of Commons investigation into the situation was called off today because of the police action.

Toll revenue jumped sharply last fall following installation of mechanical collection devices.

Mr. Fulton made his statement in the Commons after Lionel Chevrier (Liberal, Montreal Laurier) had drawn attention to news reports of the raids.

NEW REPORT

Mr. Fulton said that in December Transport Minister Hees asked him to resume earlier investigations into the toll situation but that he had no report until Monday.

However, a few minutes later he said a new report had been handed him to the effect that a great deal of additional information and a number of documents had been obtained during the raids.

There was "a decided possibility" that on examination the information obtained would warrant criminal charges being placed. No decision on that point had been made pending close examination of the material seized. He did not elaborate on the type of information.

The raids involved the homes of both present and past employees of the National Harbors Board who worked on Jacques Cartier Bridge as toll collectors. The bridge is operated by the board on behalf of the Ottawa, Quebec and Montreal governments.

The CNR has said that revenues on Victoria bridge increased approximately 10 per cent following the installation of automatic collections.

It was also learned seven employees of the Jacques Cartier Bridge were hired on the recommendation of members of parliament.

Transport Minister Hees said one of the employees hired, identified only as H. Fournier, was recommended by former Liberal secretary of state Roch Pinard and current associate defence minister Pierre Seignigny. Four others were recommended by Liberal MPs and two by Conservatives.

The application, involving about 300 employees, was fought before the board by Hall's union with the backing of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers. All three are members of the Canadian Labor Congress.

The brotherhood, which has a minority of the men involved, has indicated it is codifying its bargaining rights in favor of the railway clerks.

FROGMAN STILL ALIVE,
A PRISONER IN RUSSIA?

LONDON (Reuters)—Cmdr. Lionel Crabb, British frogman who mysteriously disappeared while diving near a visiting Russian ship in 1956, was reported by a newspaper today as "alive and a prisoner in Russia."

The four-year mystery of Crabb's disappearance took a new twist with a report in the London Daily Sketch. It says a London publishing firm is claiming that "photostats and transcripts of a top-secret Russian dossier, which have been smuggled to Britain, reveal the full story of his kidnapping and his prisoner's job in Russia."

The 46-year-old navy diver disappeared at Portsmouth, Eng., when Soviet warships that brought Nikita Khrushchev and former premier Nikolai Bulganin to Britain were in harbor there.

A headless body later found floating off the coast was believed at the time to be that of Crabb.

"But no one could identify the body," a spokesman for the publishing firm is quoted as saying.

"Crabb was not drowned. He was captured by the Russians and taken aboard the cruiser he was investigating."
